Introduction

Welcome to the Lorien Trust and the Lorien Trust Player's Handbook and Game Rules v3.1.1

This Lorien Trust Player's Handbook and Game Rules publication will provide you with the information you need to create a character and play in our world.

It covers everything from a basic knowledge of the history of the game world of Erdreja, to the various people and races, with descriptions of the skills and rules needed to role-play within the game.

This Lorien Trust Player's Handbook and Game Rules v3.1 now supersedes all previous versions of the Lorien Trust Role-Playing system Player's Handbook, and all supplements including Rune prior to April 2018. It covers amendments to the previous rules, changes, and updates that have been made to the system over past years.

Any correspondence regarding the Lorien Trust Role-Playing System or Lorien Trust events should be directed to:

Welcome

This Handbook covers the Game rules system used by the Lorien Trust (LT) at all their events. The layout of the book is explained below, as well as some of the more basic concepts you will find used within the rest of the book. Instead of placing the rules in the order in which you may first use them, the rules are now in order of importance and usage. The most important and most commonly used rules are at the front of this Handbook and the least common at the back. Rules that are only required for reference, such as Character Creation, have been placed in the Appendices.

The Handbook is laid out with the most important information at the front. It is divided into three Chapters and four Appendices. Each chapter is further divided into Sections.

The first chapter deals with the basics of playing within the rules system, including how the rules are set out, Safety calls and the roles of Referees and Marshals. This section is vitally important, as everything else in the Handbook requires you to know how the rules work.

The second chapter deals with the basic damage and magic system. These rules cover the character rather than the player in the game. Included in this section are the rules on combat and on magical effects that your character might be affected by.

The third chapter covers the other logistics around playing a character; details on how special items and powers work, spell cards, searching and other information you will need to play the game.

1. Appendix 1 covers character creation and character skills.
2. Appendix 2 covers guidelines for using weapons.
3. Appendix 3 contains tables showing the class and characteristic of every effect
4. Appendix 4 contains definitions of various terms and the glossary.

All words in italics in this document are described within this Appendix.

Attending Events

“WHO ATTENDS LT EVENTS?”

All LT Main events are suitable for families. The LT provides entertainment for all ages, which is shown by the fact that our events are attended by a diverse age range of people including children, parents and grandparents alike. People from all walks of life enjoy the escapism that the LT has to offer whether they are students, builders, mechanics, lawyers, IT professionals, nurses, doctors or those who are in between jobs.

“WHAT SHOULD I BRING WITH ME?”

All Lorien Trust events are camping-based weekends so you might want to bring the following with you:

- A tent and sleeping kit/bag
- Enough clothes for the event and some extra clothes, especially extra socks etc.
- Make sure you bring some warm and weather proof clothes for the evenings (even in the summer it can get quite cold and damp during the night)

Other useful things to bring:

- Money (for extra food and drinks, or maybe more costume and LRP weapons)
- Food and drinks
- Cooking and eating utensils including a stove (unless you plan to eat solely from the caterers)
- A torch
- Towel
- Wash kit
- Sun cream
- Don't forget any medication that you may require
- And not forgetting the costume and LRP weaponry you will need

The most important thing to remember is 'enjoy yourself and have fun'.

“WHAT IF I WANT TO ARRIVE EARLY FOR AN EVENT?”

You may wish to arrive on the Thursday for an event to set up camp and prepare for the event. A small charge for early arrival applies and this is payable on the day, in cash at the gate. Please email the office or check RUNE for further details.

You may also be interested in helping with the main setup of the events, for which you may receive in character rewards. Please call or email the office for details on how to volunteer for event setup.

Facilities at Events

TOILETS AND WASHING FACILITIES

Toilets and a limited number of showers will be provided and placed as practically as we can. Standpipes can be found in the main field and around the edge of the camping areas. The water comes direct from the water mains, so be warned it may be cold and under a lot of pressure.

CATERING, BAR AND SUPPLIES

Ranges of catering units provide a good selection of hot/cold food and drinks. Some vegetarian food will also be available.

A licensed bar tent will provide a range of alcoholic and soft drinks, during licensing hours to approximately 6pm on the last day of the event. (Alcohol will not be sold to any person under 18.)

SITE FACILITIES:

- Camping areas
- Car parking
- Toilets: Unisex Tardis types
- Showers
- Water stand pipes
- A range of caterers
- A large bar
- An LRP related traders market
- Various helpful event staff and safety stewards
- 24 hour cover by security and first aid staff during the whole event.

GAME FACILITIES:

- Game control/information point
- LRP weapons/armour checking
- Game referees
- Themed Ritual Circle (except The Great Erdrejan Fayre)
- Special effects and themed plot locations involving interactive game world plots
- Large skirmishes and battles
- Factions, Guilds, NPC's, monsters, in-game casino, Children's (plots, activities & adventures).

FIRST AID

Qualified First Aid staff will be on hand to deal with any medical problems or accidents that may occur at the events. They are stationed at First Aid near to Game Control, 24 hours a day.

Information given to the First Aid team will be treated in confidence, unless needed by Ambulance or other medical personnel. In the event of an emergency, all LT staff with a radio will be able to contact First Aid or security on your behalf.

SECURITY

Lorien Trust security staff will be based in the Games Control marquee and will be available 24 hours a day during the events. If you do have non game-based problems, this is where you need to go. Male and female security is available. The LT will treat information given to a member of security in confidence, unless required by an authorised external authority.

Security also deals with:

- All lost and/or found property
- The issue of free refuse bags
- Missing persons.

Chapter One: About the Rules

Introduction

This chapter covers the rules that govern the Player, as opposed to the Character, at a Lorien Trust event. A Player is you, the real life person involved in the event, whereas the character is the person you are playing. The rules in Chapter One deal with the logistics of running a very large-scale event. Anyone wishing to take part in a Lorien Trust event must read this chapter. Without it, you will find yourself at a major disadvantage to understand any part of the rules and may well lead to you being pulled out of the event – at least for long enough to learn and understand the fundamentals of the rules. The Lorien Trust provides you with Role Play opportunities.

Section One: Fundamentals

This section explains the logistics of the Lorien Trust Role-Playing System Rules and Handbook and includes details on how this information is laid out for ease of understanding.

About the Handbook

To make the Handbook easier to understand, a few layout conventions have been adopted. Any text that is in bold must be read, or you will not have the information needed to play within the L.T.R.P. system. All of the remaining text still constitutes the rules and cannot be ignored, but it only applies in specific situations, or is a further explanation of a situation or a call.

Where the Handbook uses a term that has a specific meaning within the context of the rules system, it appears in italics and is defined in the Definitions of Terms Section of Appendix 4, page 69. These terms contain rules and should always be read along with the section in which they are mentioned.

None of the Rules in Chapter One are ever overridden by any lammie, loresheet or OS.

All the Rules in Chapter Two and Three may be overridden by a lammie, loresheet or OS.

Throughout this booklet, the abbreviation IC refers to In-Character, or actions taken by the character rather than the player, and the abbreviation OOC to Out-Of-Character, or actions taken by the player rather than the character. Distances are given in Imperial, with an approximate value given in metric in parentheses. In cases of dispute, the Imperial measurement will be used.

The Spirit of the Game

All participants at Lorien Trust events are requested and required to uphold the spirit, not just the letter, of the rules. Referees and Marshals can only make decisions based on the information at hand; if they feel it is necessary they will consult with Event Management. The ultimate aim of live role-playing is to 'enjoy yourself and have fun'. Role-playing a character in such a way as to deliberately upset others OOC is not within the spirit of the rules. The Lorien Trust would like to ask all participants to leave OOC disagreements with other people outside the event.

Please note that these rules and guidelines exist to be an aid to your role-playing, not the basis of it. However, please be aware that breaking these rules, whether intentionally or not, is cheating and this is considered a very serious offence. A first offence is likely to generate a warning, further offences are likely to incur more severe sanctions such as (But are not limited to) your character losing Occupational Skills (without refund of the OSPs), the removal of a character from play for a period of time, or could ultimately lead to you being banned from Lorien Trust events. Please also note that deliberately misleading someone OOC in a way that could lead to them inadvertently cheating also counts in its self as cheating. Be careful about spreading OOC information that you are not sure of, in case your actions lead to others inadvertently cheating.

There are a great many possibilities for you to undertake role play opportunities. Should these be consistently taken or utilised in a manner that is detrimental to the harmony of other characters, you may find an extreme lasting effect is imposed upon your character.

The main LT events are family events and all participants are requested to respect the fact that children will be present at the event. There are certain limits to the depth of role-playing that is permitted at these events. Physical restraint and force should never be used when role-playing; if you are kidnapping or arresting someone IC, you should tell them if they are being tied, then ask them to role-play the effects without actual physical restraint.

References to racism, sexism and crimes such as rape and torture are not acceptable. It is not acceptable to run any plots featuring scenes containing offensive material or role-play behaviour of this nature. Arson should not be discussed at events due to the potential confusion between a real OOC fire and an IC fire. Fire safety is a serious issue and for this reason, it is not permissible under the rules to set fire IC to any building, structure, person, or to perpetrate any other inappropriate act of this nature, IC or OOC. Acts of arson as character background or part of a plot are permissible as long as there is no danger that they could be misunderstood to apply during time-in.

Persons found not abiding by the spirit of these guidelines face being warned, asked to leave site or banned from LT events, depending on the severity of their actions. If in doubt consult a Referee or Marshal or enquire at Game Control, as to what is considered appropriate or not.

Some Sanctioned events may have a darker feel than is outlined above and will state clearly that they are only suitable for adults on their event literature. All plot of this nature will be reviewed by the Head of Plot prior to receiving approval as part of the event sanctioning process.

We ask all customers to roleplay within their limitations and respect the limitations of others. Some customers may, due to mobility, disability or other difficult, be unable to comply with the exact written letter of certain game rules. (e.g. A person with mobility issues (temporary or permanent) may be unable to take the appropriate response to the call of "fear", a person with speech difficulties (temporary or permanent) may be unable to complete a chant in the manner described). If you feel it is necessary we ask that you either contact the office in advance or visit Game Control at an event to discuss the possible individual and bespoke ways we can assist you to continue to engage with roleplay opportunities, within the confines of Game Mechanics.

The Game World

Over the past two decades the Lorien Trust has offered immersion and depth within Erdreja (the fantasy world in which the Lorien Trust roleplay system is set) In real world time it has existed since the beginning of LT's creation in 1991, whilst in-character Erdreja is at least hundreds, if not thousands of years old and is essentially a multi-layered Dragon egg. This is made up of 16 magical and natural elements, which usually work together to form a Balance within the rich tapestry of life upon Erdreja. Many parts of the world still require investigation and continued character investment to unlock more of its secrets and mysteries.

Most racial types live on the surface of the egg, whilst a few live underneath within its shell. The Lorien Trust provides you the opportunity to engage within Erdreja and walk amongst other Humans, Goblins, Elves and Dwarves – Where magic is real and fortune favours the brave.

We created the World background and provide a base setting for you to build your character upon and develop within. The more you put into the world, the more you will get out of it. There is no minimum activity required and there is no limit to the amount you may choose to participate.

Although a finite amount of resources are available beyond player versus player (PvP) interaction, which are utilised to entertain as many customers as possible to the best of our ability. The onus of roleplay is upon you, as a player character, to interact and immerse with the game world. To this extent there are numerous Role Play opportunities available for you to discover and decide how many you chose to do, The choice is yours.

Factions: The focus of our game world is played currently around 10 Factions, these camp together in designated camping areas and are differentiated by a magical boundary (A faction ward) Each faction has its own outlook, ethos and culture. This is supported by a team of NPC's (Non Player Character) and DPC's (Designated or Directed Player Characters) who assist the customers within each region. Each identity varies and the below is an approximation of their general ethos and culture.

- Bears – fierce Caledonian clansmen.
- Dragons – Celtic wanderers and tribesmen.
- Gryphons – Mediterranean-esque nobles.
- Harts – Courtly, Feudal, Knightly and Noble Britonians with a mix of Arthurian Lore.
- Jackals – Persian, Egyptian, Greco nobles and traders.
- Lions – A large Arthurian-esque family of heroes who value loyalty and honesty above all else.
- Tarantulas – matriarchal society of dark elves, Drow and others from the Underdark.
- Unicorns – a rag-tag company of traders and merchants.
- Vipers – crafty Teutonian tribes.
- Wolves – Nordic warriors.

Groups: Each faction is split down into smaller groups, a group may have a unique history, ethos or outlook that fits or exceeds with the factions ethos or outlook. Each group must be linked to a faction. The primary purpose of character groups is as an OOC aid to locating or contacting you in the field, usually via the group leader. It is therefore useful if you and your group leader are familiar with each other, and that faction commands and faction security are familiar with the group leaders in their faction.

We also believe that it is of benefit to the game to have known and recognizable IC groups or units. As a new customer you would be welcome to join one of the many existing groups within the faction (Please speak with the group leaders or the NPC's first.) Seven or more players may create their own OOC group. Although it is preferable, there is no requirement that your group name matches that of any IC group that your character belongs to. Whether or not a given group exists on the database OOC does not affect whether or not that group exists IC.

In order to encourage the creation of groups of reasonable size, groups who prebook for the Gathering may receive reward packs. At least seven members, including the group leader, must prebook for the Gathering to be eligible for any potential group reward.

Guilds: The Game world currently has 12 Guilds which fall within 3 Guild Houses, Martial Guilds, Power Guilds and Knowledge Guilds. Each Guild has a team or NPC's (Non Player Character) and DPC's (Directed Player Characters) who assist with valuable functions of running the guild. Other valuable game resources can be found alongside the guilds, such as the Watchers Council and the Great Library.

The majority of your interactions will be with other player characters, and therefore it is expected that you are courteous and respectful to other role players who, like you, seek enjoyment from Live Action Role Play.

When am I IC?

Apart from designated OOC areas, all areas accessible to players at Lorien Trust events are In-Character for the entirety of time-in. If you are in an IC area during time-in whilst wearing IC costume then you are considered IC. Personal tents are OOC areas, unless a part or the entire tent is specifically used for IC purposes, in which case those areas will be considered IC areas.

On rare occasions, it may be necessary to drop briefly OOC. If it is not possible to move to an OOC area, change out of costume or to wait until time-out, then you should indicate that you are OOC by raising your hand straight up in the air clearly above your head and keeping it there. This may only be done in the case of emergencies, in situations specified in a valid Lorien Trust publication, or at the discretion of a Referee or Marshal. This does not give you the right to drop OOC at will.

GOING OUT OF CHARACTER

A person with their hand straight up in the air above their head is deemed to be not present IC. Before dropping OOC, or crossing from an IC area to an OOC area, you must first extract yourself from all IC action. Please be aware that in an IC area, only emergencies and Lorien Trust staff members have priority over IC action, so please ensure that you do not disturb any IC activities which may be taking place and that whilst OOC, you avoid interacting with any people who are IC. If you are using your hand in the air to indicate that you are OOC, be prepared to explain your legitimate reasons to a Referee or Marshal, who may assess the validity of your reason and may require you to become IC again.

Head of Department

The LT is made up of various in game and out of game Departments that help run events. There will be a Head of each Department and may be a deputy. Their decision on any matter relating to their department is final.

Section Two: Safety

Safety Calls

Anyone hearing a safety call should stop what they are doing immediately and follow the instructions detailed below unless a Referee, Marshal or on-duty staff member gives other instructions, or until IC actions are restarted using the time-in call below. Safety calls are all OOC. Safety calls may be used by anyone, but players found to be using safety calls for IC reasons, or in unnecessary situations, risk being asked to leave site and being banned from all Lorien Trust events for a period of no less than one year. Safety calls exist for the safety and well being of everyone at the event.

Please listen for instructions from Lorien Trust staff members while you are waiting and, if asked to do anything, obey as quickly and safely as possible.

Please do not try to approach an incident after hearing a safety call, unless you are fully aware of the nature of the incident and are certain that you have skills or information that may be needed (for example, fully qualified doctors, nurses or fire-fighters). In which case you should make yourself known to the staff members who are managing the incident.

MAN DOWN

This call can be used by anyone, when someone suffers a real, OOC, injury of any type. Wave your arms in the air while shouting this, to make yourself obvious but do please check that that it is a real injury and not just someone role-playing an injury before calling Man Down. If you hear this call, stop what you are doing immediately and move clear of the injured person. Do not echo a man down call as this can often lead to confusion as to where the injured person is.

- The only time you should repeat this call is if you believe other people in the immediate area have not heard the call and are in danger of fighting or moving towards the injured person.
- Anyone calling Man Down should be able to point out to a Lorien Trust staff member the location of the injured person.
- All injuries must be reported to the First Aid team at the time of occurrence.
- Allow sufficient room for the patient and the First Aid team to treat the patient.

FIRE

You should use this call if you see a fire that is uncontrolled or dangerous. If you discover a fire, alert everyone nearby (for example in adjacent tents) using this call. Find a Lorien Trust staff member, Referee or Marshal (preferably one who has a radio) as quickly as possible and tell them where you found the fire. Please leave the area as quickly and safely as possible once you have reported the fire.

Temporary fire assembly points are signposted around the site. These are dynamic and may shift according to need during an emergency response. Members of staff with radios will direct you to the appropriate location.

We advise the following;

- Do not smoke inside tents.
- Never use candles in or near a tent - torches are safer.
- Never use a naked flame under canvas.
- Make sure everyone knows how to put out clothing that's on fire- stop, drop and roll.
- Make sure you know how to escape by cutting your way out of the tent if there's a fire.
- Keep cooking appliances away from the tent walls and never cook inside a small tent or near flammable materials or long grass; they can all set alight easily.

You Must;

- Allow a reasonable spacing between tents and caravans.
- Not tamper with any fire fighting equipment that has been provided.
- Keep Roadways and emergency runs clear at all times.
- Vehicles must be parked in the designated carparks.

Safety actions

NON-COMBATANT AND RESPONSIBLE ROLE PLAY

Anyone who is concerned for their OOC safety or well-being whilst in a combat situation may call "Non-combatant", raise their hand in the air and move away from the situation. At this point, they are no longer able to take IC actions and should NOT be struck. At this point, the non-combatant will be Unconscious (head reduced to 0 hits). Should someone remove themselves from a combat situation in this way then both attacker and target may move to a safe area. Be prepared in this situation to explain your actions to a Referee or Marshal and note that this cannot be used to benefit your character; it is purely there for your personal safety. It should be noted that having your hand in the air and calling non combatant would not guarantee you would not be struck. If you consider yourself a non-combatant, you should avoid being involved in combat situations rather than rely entirely on this safety action. The Lorien Trust Role-playing System is a contact game and being struck is an inherent part of the game.

Even the best of us can find that we reach our limitations unexpectedly for any number of reasons, (possibly due to fatigue, temporary dehydration or even skipping a meal). If you find yourself in this situation you may remove yourself from play and drop OOC (see Going of Character pg8) and go to a suitable location to recover. Occasionally a member of the team may need to remind you to 'take a moment' if we feel you are overexerting yourself, even if you are engaged in an IC action. A small breather, a drink or a snack may be an aid to your role-playing. Should you find yourself inebriated or unfit for active combat, we expect you not to undertake any hostile role play action. Such actions may be deemed void by the Event Management Team.

Where a clearly inebriated individual or group has undertaken a hostile and detrimental IC action against you, you may not be a valid IC target for the effect or that action. You should continue to roleplay the effect. Once the roleplay has ended, seek a referee or marshal and inform them of the situation. Only where a hostile or detrimental roleplayed action has the potential to permanently alter the way you roleplay your character, should you seek advice from a referee. This should be done prior to any character declaration being made.

The situation may be escalated to event management for review. This may mean you are placed in an indeterminate state for a period of time. It should be noted that this is extremely rare and on an individual case by case basis. Any interpretation or ruling given by the Event Management team in these circumstances will be valid for that occasion only and will be based upon the circumstances known at that time and will be final. The aim is to make the game enjoyable and fair for all participants.

ASK FOR A REFEREE OR MARSHAL

In role-play situations where it may be inappropriate to put your hand in the air but you are still concerned for your OOC well-being or feel uncomfortable with a situation, you may request the presence of a Referee or Marshal. Advice should be sought where actions of others may be deemed beyond the remit of reasonable roleplay or goes against the spirit of the game.

As above, this cannot be used to benefit your character; it is for your OOC safety and peace of mind only. In cases where actions may have occurred in the time it takes to find a Referee or Marshal, they will use their best judgement to determine any effects resulting from those actions.

Game Calls

Only identifiable Lorien Trust staff members and on-duty Referees and Marshals may use game calls. Please follow all the actions indicated by these individuals.

These are used mostly for in-game reasons and to control characters and not the players themselves. However, even if you are OOC, you must follow all the actions required unless otherwise directed.

TIME-IN!

This call will restart IC actions after a Man Down, Time Freeze or Time Out call. At the start of each day, and at the start of an event, there may be a special time-in call. In battle situations, a Referee or Marshal may use a countdown prior to calling time-in.

TIME-FREEZE!

When you hear this call, stop all actions, close your eyes and remain still and silent until time-in is called. Please remain silent during this time, unless otherwise directed by a Referee or Marshal – this way you will hear any further instructions. Ignore any noise you hear, unless advised otherwise by a Referee or Marshal. No IC time passes during a time-freeze, unless directed otherwise.

TIME-OUT!

All IC actions are suspended by this call. Remain where you are. At the end of each day, and at the end of an event, there may be a special Time Out call, during which time is not suspended, but no official IC actions can take place until time-in is called again. You may not move from your location, restore IC damage or take any other IC action. You can sit or talk amongst yourselves, but only on an OOC basis. During the special Time Out at the end of a day, you may move about and talk, but no IC actions can take place. Please be aware that others around you may be trying to sleep at this time.

DROP!

Drop to the ground at once and perform no other actions unless a Referee or Marshal states otherwise. Once you have dropped, a Referee or Marshal will explain why you were told to do so.

Combat

The Lorien Trust Role-playing System combat rules provide a quick and effective method of resolving live combat with a minimum of interruption to the flow of the game.

The combat system is generally self-policing. This is to say that it is the players themselves who are primarily responsible for taking their hits and for taking reasonable care not to hurt one another. All blows must be pulled to reduce the force of impact. If you are unsure of your combat skills, check with your faction command, the Armourers Guild, Game Control or ask experienced members of your group. There are always people willing to help you learn to fight properly. Additional combat safety guidelines may be imposed at sanctioned events due to site restrictions or other OOC logistical reasons.

FIGHTING SAFELY

- Safe blows should not cause any pain or bruising to your opponent and stabbing with any weapon, even those described as "thrust/stab safe", is not allowed. Physical contact of any kind, other than gentle striking with an LRP suitable weapon, is not allowed. This also includes encircling an opponent with your arms to strike their back when standing in front of them.
- Using shields as a striking weapon, shield barging or body checking is not allowed.
- Blows must not be struck faster than the associated damage can be clearly and slowly called, and the tip of the weapon must travel at least 30" (~75cm) or the complete length of the weapon, whichever is greater. This applies to all weapon types. Blows must not be struck faster than it would take to reasonably strike an opponent with a realistic equivalent of the weapon used.
- You must slowly and clearly complete the vocals for a weapon's type and effect before commencing the striking of your next blow or, if you are not required to call damage, you must allow a length of time equivalent to the amount of time it would have taken to call the damage.
- Any player found by a Referee or Marshal to be acting in a dangerous, unsuitable or unfair manner whilst in combat will be warned or advised not to repeat their actions. If they do not heed this advice, they will be withdrawn from combat and their name will be taken. Players who persistently behave dangerously in combat may be asked to leave the event.
- In the interests of safety, all players should avoid targeting an opponent's head, if possible, but if necessary, the head is a viable location. Common sense must also dictate that certain other delicate areas of the male and female anatomy should be avoided.
- Extra care should be taken in large combats with blows to the head, especially with polearms or other large weapons, as this can cause concussion, eye damage or other serious injuries.

Combat is about role-playing as much as it is about winning a fight. You can have a great deal more fun with a well role-played combat than with a more mechanical one. If you take a hit, role-play the pain, or stagger back a bit to show that you are taking damage.

MASS COMBATS

Mass combats must be held in an appropriate area that is both large enough and clear enough of obstacles to allow for safe combat. The definition of what is a mass combat and what is a safe area will vary from situation to situation and, if in any doubt, please find a Marshal or Referee before starting combat. Note what may start as a small one-on-one fight may quickly grow as friends of either side, or other interested parties, join in. If you wish to attack a target in an unsafe area, or an area you are fighting in becomes unsafe then you must inform a Referee or Marshal who will move the combat or target into a safe area in an appropriate manner. This may involve calling a time-freeze in the area and moving all combatants.

UNSAFE AREAS FOR MASS COMBAT

Areas deemed always unsafe for mass combat are the area of OOC tents in faction camping areas, IC tents, bars, guild tents, trader tents, toilets, showers, traders' stands, caterers' areas and the ritual circle. Other areas may also be unsafe depending on circumstance or at the discretion of a Referee or Marshal. You should not move into an area deemed unsafe for mass combat if you are involved in a mass combat, or if you are aware that you are a target of a mass combat, unless you are doing so for OOC safety reasons. Doing so without valid reasons may result in you being placed back in the combat in a tactically disadvantaged position.

OUT OF CHARACTER AREAS

These fall into three categories;

- Specified OOC Areas:
 - Game Control,
 - Monster Room,
 - Costume and Makeup,
 - Event Support,
 - First Aid,
 - Car Park,
 - any out of bounds area and any area with an OOC notice.

- Site Facilities and area Within 10ft (~3m) around them,
 - Toilets,
 - Showers,
 - Caterers,
 - Standpipes,

- Natural Hazards and area Within 10ft (~3m) around them,
 - Any fixed or temporary fence or boundary (Excluding faction wards),
 - Any bridge, gateway or vehicle access point
 - Any Marked Hazard (Marked with red and white hazard tape)

NON COMBAT AREAS

Occasionally, areas may be marked with a "Non Combat Area" sign. These are areas deemed not suitable for LRP Combat and these actions must be avoided. Combat may commence in areas well away from these marked areas.

CHILDREN & COMBAT

No child under the age of Sixteen (16) will be allowed to take part in large-scale skirmishes or mass battles, unless organised by the Lorien Trust kids adventure team. This is for reasons of safety. It is the responsibility of the parent or guardian accompanying the child to the event to ensure that this safety rule is adhered to. The LT endeavours to provide as many children's activities as possible, please ask at Game Control for further information. All children are Immune to Charm and Command Effects until Dawn on their 16th Birthday. There are no exceptions to this rule. A weapon or shield used by a child must be easily wieldable by the child and must be no taller than them.

Any child under the age of ten years old, who is playing a character at an event, does not have sufficient skill with a weapon to be able inflict any damage, and strikes for the No Damage effect. Please be aware that young children do attend the events and will join in fights, or just attack passers by. Feel free to role-play with under-tens if they attack you, but you are not required to take the damage. Please remember that children are more delicate than adults are, and be extra careful with interacting with them if they attack you.

Section Three: Refereeing and Adjudication

The Lorien Trust respects the integrity and honesty of our customer base, and we know you will all attempt to remain faithful to the written rules and spirit of the game at all times. We are happy for you, the customers, to self-ref the majority of in-game actions and interactions in most given circumstances. However, there will always be a marshal or referee on hand to help with any and all clarifications you may need.

The Referee department will act on behalf of the organiser to adjudicate certain Game and safety issues as detailed below

Referees and Marshals at LT events are available to monitor and steward combat safety, running plot, ensuring that players and monsters play within the rules, answering any queries that players may have regarding the rules and helping to make the game enjoyable and fair for all participants. If you ask a Referee or Marshal for help, particularly with regard to the rules or specific monsters, please bear in mind that they may have to consult with another colleague before they can assist you. All Referees and Marshals will make every effort to answer your questions accurately within the shortest possible time.

LT Referees and Marshals fit into a number of categories, each of which has different responsibilities. These categories are detailed below.

Should you have cause to question a decision from a Referee or Marshal at a Main LT event, you must accept their decision on the spot. You may then ask for their details and refer to Game Control or the Team Leader Referees, please note that you should at least take a note of their tabard/card number. Without the number of the Referee or Marshal, it may be impossible to deal with your query. All Referees and Marshals must have a number on display when on duty. At a sanctioned event, you should direct any such questions to the Sanctioning Officer and or the event organiser. A Referee or Marshal may temporarily overrule the published rules when running an LT plot, for safety reasons.

Any interpretation or ruling given by a Marshal, Referee, Sanctioning Officer will be valid for that occasion only and will be based upon the circumstances known at the time. Permanent rule changes or clarifications can only be made in a valid LT publication.

No Referee, Team Leader, Head of Department, NPC or plot representative should be considered on duty for refereeing decisions whilst playing a character or monster role. To make such decisions, they must be clearly OOC. On-duty Referees and Marshals will be wearing a high visibility vest as detailed below. Note that at sanctioned events, Referees and Marshals may be wearing variations of this attire, but may still be carrying their card and any significant variations will be noted in that sanctioned events literature.

BATTLE MARSHAL

Wears: Un-numbered yellow high visibility vest.

A Battle Marshal can make safety calls but cannot make rules decisions. The primary responsibility of a Battle Marshal is to monitor combat situations, particularly large-scale battles, when Battle Marshals may be stationed at specific points to direct the fighting away from any OOC hazards. You do not have to pass a Lorien Trust test to become a Battle Marshal and if you wish to volunteer to help for large battles please go to Game Control where you will be instructed on your duties. For end of event battles, particularly at the Gathering, Battle Marshals are always needed.

MARSHAL

Wears: Numbered yellow high visibility vest. The number will be preceded by the letter "M".

A Marshal may answer rules queries, but may not pronounce a character dead at Main LT events.

Marshals are primarily responsible for answering general rules queries and overseeing small-scale combats and monster encounters, and they will not overrule another Marshal. Marshals do not have the authority to pronounce a character dead at a Main LT event but may do so at sanctioned events; if a character is at risk of dying whilst being overseen by a Marshal, the Marshal will ask for the assistance of a Referee. Marshals may have a limited knowledge of current plot. All Marshals have passed the Lorien Trust Marshals' test; anyone may take this test, ask at the plot actuation desk for details.

REFEREE

Wears: Numbered yellow high visibility vest. The number will be preceded by the letter "R".

Referees may answer rules queries and may pronounce characters dead. Referees are primarily responsible for answering rules queries and Refereeing more complex encounters and combats than those dealt with by Marshals. Referees have demonstrated a competent level of Refereeing skill at LT events and have a detailed knowledge of the rules. Referees cannot overrule the published rules; they may only interpret them, except as stated above. Please note that some questions may only be answered effectively by a Referee who is equipped with a radio. They will only overrule a Marshal in situations where it is clear to them an incorrect decision has been made and they will consult with the Referee or Marshal before making their decision. Referees have the authority to pronounce a character dead, after checking all the details of the situation. All Referees have passed the LT Referees' test; this test may be taken only upon invitation from the Team Leader Referees.

SANCTIONING OFFICER

Any questions about Game decisions made at a sanctioned may be put to the Sanctioning Officer for an impartial decision. This decision will be valid for that occasion only. At all LT Sanctioned events, an LT Sanctioning Officer will work with the event organisers to ensure certain minimum standards are met. This includes having insurances etc, as well as LT qualified Referees and Marshals to adjudicate game and safety issues as detailed below.

Head of Departments

Questions may be put to Heads of Departments for clarification or consultation. The answer may not be immediate, in these circumstances an interim or holding answer may be given during the interim.

At all LT Main events, in all cases, the organiser's decision is final.

Chapter Two: Universal Rules

This chapter covers the rules that apply to all characters within the L.T.R.P. System. The main difference between this chapter and Chapter One is that these rules only apply to the character and not to the player. lammies, loresheets or OS may overrule these rules.

Section One: Combat

Dealing damage

Any blow struck with any weapon will deal a single point of damage unless an effect states otherwise. Armour cannot be reduced below 0 AV (Armour Value), and body locations cannot be reduced below -1 LHV (Locational Hit Value). (See Chapter 2, Section 3 - Damage System, page 21 onwards for more details on damage types and effects.)

If a character has AV from two different sources(e.g. a paladins Armour and chainmail) then both sets of Armour will take damage at the same time if struck.

Body Locations

With the exception of some special creatures, all characters have six body locations. These are the head, torso, left arm, right arm, left leg and right leg. Each body location has 1 base LHV. The number of hits a location has can be increased through skills, magic, items and special powers, if these increases conform to the Rule of Double (see Chapter 3, Section 2 - Rule of Double, page 56).

Every time your character is hit on an armoured body location, you should deduct one from the AV of that body location (if you are wearing a suitable phys-rep for your armour and have the skill enabling you to use it). If you are struck on an unarmoured body location, or on a body location covered by armour with its AV at zero, you should deduct one hit from that body location's hits. If a body location is reduced to zero LHV, it is rendered unusable. If a body location is reduced to -1 LHV, it is considered to have a Mortal Wound, and is rendered unusable and the character will enter their Grace Period (see Chapter 2, Section 1 - Grace Period, page 16).

Unusable locations

The following list describes what happens to your character once a body location is rendered unusable. These effects should be role-played. When an injury requires you to drop to your knees or to the ground, you should do so as safely as possible.

LEG LOCATION

You must drop to your knees or fall down immediately. You can get back up again but you cannot use the damaged leg. If both leg locations become unusable, you should drop to the ground (not just to your knees). You cannot use your legs at all but can drag yourself around with your arms and call for help.

ARM LOCATION

You must drop anything held or supported by that arm (or hand) immediately. You may not make any use of that arm (or hand). In a situation where dropped items might be trampled, damaged or lost you do not have to drop the item, but you cannot use it with the useless arm.

HEAD OR TORSO LOCATION

Your character falls unconscious and you must drop (safely) to the ground.

Unconscious

If your Character is unconscious (IC) you cannot see or hear anything that is happening IC around you. You should still pay attention OOC to any combat occurring around you and be prepared to move if you are at risk of being trampled, or if a Referee or Marshal asks you to (see Chapter 2, Section 1 - Recovery, page 18).

Parrying

If a blow from a weapon delivering a special attack is parried, the special attack will not affect you, but will instead target the item used to parry it. Arrows and crossbow bolts must not be parried by a weapon but it is acceptable to block them with a shield, providing you take-care not to deflect them onto others. A weapon must be held to parry a blow and you must possess the skill to wield the weapon. Any blow striking a slung weapon will not be considered to be parried and will still damage any location it strikes. You may not parry a blow with a weapon or shield you do not have the skill to use, if you do, the strike and any special effects it has will still affect you.

Grace Periods

A character's Grace Period is the time between them receiving a Mortal Wound and them dying. Some other effects can put you directly into your Grace Period, but if a character is put into a Grace Period for any reason, they will die when the Grace Period expires. A Grace Period is normally 10 minutes in length, but certain effects may change this duration. A character that is already in their Grace period if they would be subject to an effect that would place them in their Grace Period is not put into a second Grace period. Instead, their Grace Period becomes the lower of the two (time left of the original grace period, or the new Grace period if it is shorter).

If you suffer a Mortal Wound such that all your locations are at -1 you will enter your grace period (if you are not already in one) and if the current time remaining in the grace period is higher than 4 minutes it will immediately drop to 4 minutes.

While all locations are at -1 you may not regenerate damage unless a Loresheet or Lammie specifically states that you may regenerate when at -1 on all locations.

Note: This does not affect normal curative or healing actions, only the Regeneration effect. This rule change does not alter how the Wasting effect works in any way.

The Grace Period is the time during which the character's Pattern is departing their physical body. To be brought out of their Grace Period, all reasons for the character to be in their Grace Period must be resolved.

Identifying Wounds

All characters can visually identify if a character has any location with a Mortal Wound or is dead. This identification takes 3 seconds of Concentration whilst within 10ft (~3m) of the target and they must state "Discern Mortal Wounds" to the target player. This is an OOC vocal. The type and number of blows is not discernible by this method. It is possible to continue to monitor the location to see if its status changes (i.e. if the target is regenerating) but you will not know this until 3 seconds after the location no longer has a Mortal Wound.

Characters with the CS Healing or Physician can also "Discern Wounds", Using this skill requires 3 seconds of concentration, while holding your primary hand 2" (approx. 5cm) away from a single target, and stating "Discern Wound, Poison, Pattern Effect or Disease".

If the target is dead then the ability reveals that fact, and no further information is given.

If the target is not dead then the ability reveals the number of hits remaining on each location and the maximum they can be restored to. It will also reveal the presence of any of the following effects on the target: Disease, Decay, Fatal, Petrify, Paralysis or Poison. In the case of Fatal it will also reveal the specific location(s) affected. No further information will be revealed.

Death & Dying

A character that has any location reduced to -1 LHV for any reason has taken a Mortal Wound and will enter their Grace Period. A body location cannot be reduced below -1 LHV. Locations at zero are unusable but stable and do not deteriorate.

If all of a character's body locations simultaneously have a Mortal Wound, all your locations are at -1 you will enter your grace period (if you are not already in one) and if the current time remaining in the grace period is higher than 4 minutes it will immediately drop to 4 minutes.

While all locations are at -1 you may not regenerate damage unless a Loresheet or Lammie specifically states that you may regenerate when at -1 on all locations.

Note: This does not affect normal curative or healing actions, only the Regeneration effect. This does not alter how the Wasting effect works in any way.

If it should take a Referee a short period of time to clarify all the facts of a situation they may declare a character in an indeterminate state, typically this may be between being dead or alive although there may be other situations where this is used. Anything done to the character during this period will still have an effect as normal and any power expended will still be expended even if the decision is that the character was not in a state to have been affected by the effect used. The Referee will take account of anything done to the character in the indeterminate state as this period merely means that is impossible to determine the state of the character until the Referee makes a decision.

A player may decide to retire their character at any point. The character will be assumed to have died from natural causes. Retiring a character in this way must be done at Game Control.

If a character has died, and the player of the character is satisfied that the death is legitimate, and no Referee is present, the Player can declare their character dead. The player must report the death to Game Control.

If a character has died under any circumstances, the player of the character must report the death to Game Control.

The Ritual of Peace does not prevent death if a location is already at -1 LHV. If you suffer damage that will "reduce a location to -1 LHV ignoring the Ritual of Peace" then you will suffer all of the effects described here and your character will be at risk of death (see Chapter 2, Section 1 - Ritual of Peace, page 18).

As with all aspects of the game, the LT asks all participants to be aware of other people's feelings. Losing a character into which you have put a lot of time and creativity can be an upsetting experience, particularly if it happens suddenly. Please be aware that someone whose character has just died may be upset and respect their feelings.

After Character Death

When a character dies, their pattern leaves their body. The character is dead and no power will ever bring them back. The pattern stays near to the body until Dawn and then travels to whichever of the Planes is its Ancestor's home or natural home is, unless an effect prevents it from doing so.

Anything done to a dead (character) body must be reported to a Referee, Marshal or Game Control.

Some effects might still affect a dead character, but the character will not be able to be played again. A residual pattern of this character may be able to return, however this is incredibly rare and controlled by World Plot. Such an act may never be achieved by any In Game means. Occasionally, we may utilise the background, history, acts of courage, likeness, stories and fables of any deceased character to further plot or offer information in a limited way. This is only done so with permission from Event Management.

"What's Next?"

The character will be marked as non-playable on the database and will not be able to be played again. In order to continue to participate in the Lorien Trust you will be required to generate a new character. This may be done at the time of character demise or after any associated roleplay around the characters demise has passed. This should be done in person at Game Control at Main Events or via email to the office after a Sanctioned Event. In certain circumstances a small goodwill gesture may be authorised for you to create your new character. It should be noted that this is occasional and not the 'norm'.

Character health warning

LARP, Live Action Role Play, has both highs and lows. Emotions and adrenaline can run high when you are winning, or dispatched your foe. By the same tune, should you happen to be on the losing side, or experience a character death, this can cause an emotional low. Please bear this in mind during your game play. Your actions (or inaction) may affect others in a negative (or positive) way.

Should you feel you need to discuss a matter with a staff member or volunteer, all referees and event support staff are trained and available. These staff members are understanding and experienced with the emotional upset that losing a character can bring.

There is an increasing issue where in game actions and knowledge are openly and blatantly shared online, usually through social media, and in out of character discussions. This in turn is used for in game purposes. The Lorien Trust frown upon such behaviour and consider this to be cheating.

In rare cases, this is taken too far and is akin to bullying / harassment of an individual or a group. This is unacceptable behaviour and we have no option but to take action.

Recovery

See Ritual of Peace for details on recovering damage under a Ritual of Peace. After 10 minutes of a character's Head or Torso being on zero (0) LHV, the character will recover consciousness but will be Debilitated. This means that they are not be able to take any action other than walking slowly and talking. They cannot use any ability that requires Concentration, cast any spell, or wield a weapon effectively (including parrying). If a limb is on zero then it still cannot be used. For example, you would be able to drink a potion as this does not require Concentration but you would not be able to use potion lore to identify it as this does require Concentration, nor be able to drink unaided if both arms are at 0 LHV.

At Dawn, a character will fully recover any lost hits and any effects the character is currently affected by are lost unless there is an accompanying loresheet, Lammie or Ref that states otherwise.

The Ritual of Peace

This powerful ritual magic effect converts all non-Artefact damage to subdual damage for any Intelligent creature with a Living Pattern. Artefact damage (including Affect <X> if in the Target Group), effects that state they ignore a ritual of peace and effects that do not cause damage will affect the target as normal. Any damage taken outside a Ritual of Peace will not be altered by it if you are then brought inside an area protected by a Ritual of Peace. The Ritual of Peace will also remove debilitation, and subject any character covered by the ritual to a Global Full Cure effect after they have been debilitated for ten minutes.

This effectively means that for normal characters who have been hit with normal weapons until they are unconscious, they will recover consciousness and be debilitated after ten minutes, and after a further ten minutes, they will regain all their hits. Global Full Cure restores all body hits to all the target's locations. This will only be effective on a being with a Living Pattern, and will not be effective on a location suffering from a Fatal Wound, or on a character under the effects Disease or Decay.

LT main events usually include an area or areas under the effect of a Ritual of Peace. Any creature Immune to or protected against Ritual Magic, and Unintelligent and Bestial creatures will not be protected by a Ritual of Peace (see Appendix 4, Definition of Terms, page 69 onward, for a definition of Unintelligent and Bestial creatures).

If you have any doubts about the protection provided by a Ritual of Peace, check with Game Control or a Referee equipped with a radio.

Monsters with total body hits

A very small number of monsters have only a single allocation of hits for their entire body. This location always counts as the Torso. However, any effect that would normally destroy a body location (e.g. Crush or Harm), will instead do 5 hits.

Any monster with Total Body Hits (TBH) will have severe downsides, and these monsters can never be player characters.

Healing a monster with total body hits, using a chant, will restore up to a maximum of 5 hits per card.

Any effect that would normally restore an entire location will heal 5 hits.

When a monster with TBH that are currently above 0 takes damage that should have reduced its hits to a level below 0, then it will actually only reduce its hits to 0. While a monster with TBH is at 0 hits or below, they have Damage Reduction, i.e. all blows reduce their hits by only 1 hit.

Characters with TBH will die immediately if their hits fall to -6 or lower.

Any effect, CS, Lammie, loresheet or OS that alters a character's Locational Hit Value (LHV) will also affect monsters with Total Body hits. In this case, each additional LHV hit granted would grant the character with an additional 3 TBH.

Any effect, CS, Lammie, loresheet or OS that grants a character Armour Value (AV) will also affect monsters with Total Body hits. In this case, the locational AV granted the character is tripled and applied to the single body location. Heavy Armour, therefore, would grant 9 Total Body Armour. Any effect that would normally destroy armour on a location or otherwise take it directly to 0 (e.g. Crush), will instead do 5 hits. This will not 'carry over' if there is not enough AV to absorb completely the hits. E.g. A total body monster with 2 AV left will not take the 'spare' 3 hits to the body from a Crush.

Any global damage call will affect a total body hit monster three times, consecutively (e.g. Global Flame hit will cause a total of 3 hits, Global Harm will cause a total of 15).

Section Two: Effects

Effect descriptions

NOTES ON EFFECTS

All Effects have four parts to them: Source, Range, Class and Characteristic.

An effect is always the same no matter how it was generated.

An effect is always of the same class, regardless of how it was generated.

A character cannot be Immune to the source of an effect, only a single effect or a class of effects.

No effect may just use the name of the effect, unless it is delivered by a Referee or Marshal, or is delivered as part of a Damage Call.

Effects of an identical name do not stack and casting a new effect on someone replaces the previous effect, unless specifically stated otherwise in the effects description. E.g. Casting an Endurance effect on someone will replace any current Endurance effect on the target.

Innate abilities require the Call “Innate <name of effect>”. This call is for OOC information only; there are no IC vocals for Innate effects.

NO EFFECT

If you are immune to an effect or blow then you should call “No effect to <effect>”. If there could be no confusion as to which blow or effect you are immune to, then you should just call “no effect”. If you wish to pretend IC that you have no immunity, then you must role-play the attacks effects and do not have to call “No effect”.

GLOBAL

Any effect that is preceded by the word Global will affect every location of the target, regardless of the effect. Global and Mass cannot be combined in the same call unless a lammie explicitly states otherwise. Global cannot be called without a lammie or loresheet that specifically allows its use.

SOURCE

This is what generates the effect: Mage spells, Incantor spells, Channelling spells, Necromancy spells, Innate or Ritual.

DIRECTED ACTION

Some effects can control or dictate your actions.

If you are generating these effects, you should be aware of the possibility of causing another player to endanger him or herself, and try to avoid creating this situation

If you are targeted by one of these effects, you must follow the directions to the best of your OOC ability unless the directions are inappropriate or jeopardise your OOC safety or that of others.

APPROPRIATE CONTACT

Some effects have a range of Touch. When using these effects, you should take care to avoid inappropriate contact, and be ready to move your hands if the target tells you they are uncomfortable. If the target requests it, you may cast (or continue to cast) Touch effects by holding your hand 2” away from the target.

RANGE

Effects can be Ranged, Mass, Touch or Self.

- Ranged effects have a maximum range of 30ft (~9m).
- Mass effects either a) effect everyone within 10ft (~3m) of the creator if their arms are held up, or b) effect everyone within 10ft (~3m) of the creator in an arc indicated by their arms, if their arms are held out in front of them. Mass effects cannot be countered.
- Touch effects require physical contact in order to be delivered. Touch effects may be applied to the caster of the effect.
- Self effects only ever affect the caster and their equipment.
- Rite effects have a range defined explicitly in their description.

You cannot change the Range category of a spell. E.g. you cannot cast a Ranged spell as a Touch spell. The only exception to this is acting as part of a Wedge (not the Focus), where you can cast the wedge effect as a Touch effect.

CLASS

All effects are grouped into four classes: magical, mind, pattern or physical. This allows characters with a lammie or loresheet to be immune to a class of effects (refer to Appendix 3, page 67, effects by class), and does not cover damage types.

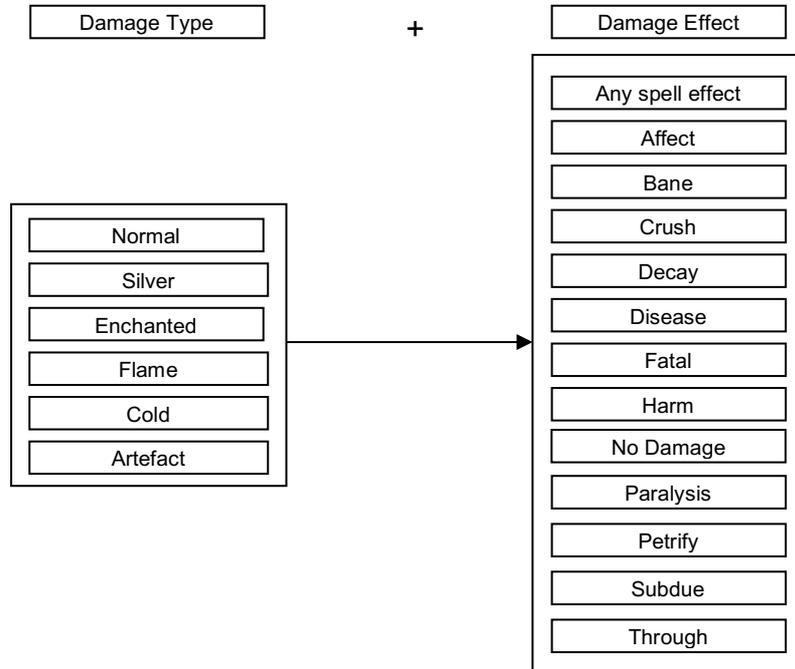

CHARACTERISTIC

All effects are grouped into one of nine characteristic: Command, Counter, Cure, Damage, Detect, Enchant, Force, Immobilise or Special. This allows characters with a lammie or loresheet to be immune to a characteristic of effects (see Appendix 3, Effects by Characteristic, page 67), and does not cover damage types.

Section Three: Damage System

Damage Calls

A damage call may include a single damage type and a single damage effect. Only one damage call may be made per blow. A character will only be able to deliver a blow of the damage type Normal, and optionally the damage effects Subdue or No Damage, unless stated otherwise by a lammie, effect, loresheet, Character Skill or Occupational Skill.

Damage Types

Damage types describe the nature of the damage inflicted. This may mean that the target is affected differently. Some individuals take different effects from different damage types. Unless you are told otherwise by a Referee or Marshal or have a lammie or loresheet that tells you otherwise, all damage types affect you in the same way.

Normal	The Normal damage type means the weapon will do 1 hit of Normal damage. Note this does not need to be called as it is the default damage type
Silver	The Silver damage type means the weapon will do 1 hit of Normal damage. Silver damage has additional effects on certain characters and monsters, which will be detailed on their lammies or loresheets .
Enchanted	The Enchanted damage type means the weapon will do 1 hit of Enchanted damage.
Flame & Cold	The Flame and Cold damage types mean that the weapon will do 1 hit of Enchanted damage. Flame weapons are magically heated not covered in flames. You cannot use Flame weapons to ignite things, or light areas. Flame and Cold damage have additional effects on certain characters and monsters, which will be detailed on their lammies or loresheets .
Artefact	The Artefact damage type means the weapon will do 1 hit of Artefact damage for each blow regardless of Immunities. This damage type goes through the Ritual of Peace. Nothing can be Immune to Artefact damage unless it is a Zero hit creature.

Damage Effects

If you are capable of generating a Damage effect it is in addition to, and separate from, the Damage Type done by the weapon blow itself. All blows do 1 point of damage, the damage effect will never add another point of damage to the blow although it may negate the damage, or convert the point of damage into destroying a location or armour instead. E.g. If you are struck by a Normal Harm on an armoured location the Harm converts the normal point of damage into an effect that destroys the location but does not damage the armour.

Some of the damage effects only work on a specific Target Group. If the Target Group is not on a lammie (inc. your character card) or on a loresheet, then it is considered to be a blow of the damage type used (Normal if no other damage type is called), unless you are told otherwise by a Referee or Marshal. Note that everyone defaults to the Target Group, Living, unless otherwise specified on a lammie or loresheet.

Any effect listed in Section Four can also be used as a Damage effect.

AFFECT <TARGET GROUP>

MAGICAL DAMAGE EFFECT

This damage effect converts the damage type to Artefact against the Target Group named, including their armour. Against all other targets it inflicts the default damage type of the blow (Normal unless otherwise stated).

<TARGET GROUP> BANE

MAGICAL DAMAGE EFFECT

This damage effect converts the damage type to Artefact against the Target Group named, including their armour. When striking the Target Group named on a location with an AV of 0 the location struck is Destroyed (ignoring a Ritual of Peace). When striking the Target Group named on a location with an AV of greater than 0 the only effect is to alter the damage type to Artefact. Against all other targets it inflicts the default damage type of the blow (Normal unless otherwise stated).

CRUSH

PHYSICAL DAMAGE EFFECT

When striking a location with AV of 0 this effect Destroys the body location. When striking a location with AV of greater than 0 this effect Destroys the armour on that location reducing it to 0 AV. When striking a shield that is not Immune to the Crush effect, the shield will be Destroyed, (see Appendix 1, Weapon Skills – Shield Use, page 58). This effect does not breach the Ritual of Peace if one is in effect. This does not convert the damage type of the weapon, so if the target is Immune to the damage type then they will not take the crush effect.

DECAY

PATTERN ENCHANT EFFECT

While affected by Decay, your wounds cannot be healed or cured in any way, including regeneration. You still recover subdual damage. You immediately enter your grace period and are under a Wasting effect (see Chapter 2, Section 4 - Full Spell Descriptions – Wasting (Chant of), page 44) until the Decay effect is removed. This gives you an effective grace period of 5 minutes and your pattern will go to the Plane of Unlife on death. You are aware of the fact that you are under a Decay effect. While affected by a Decay effect you are immune to further Decay effects.

DISEASE

PATTERN ENCHANT EFFECT

While affected by Disease, your wounds cannot be healed or cured in any way, including regeneration. You still recover subdual damage. You are aware of the fact that you are under a Disease effect. While Diseased you are immune to further Disease effects.

FATAL

PATTERN DAMAGE EFFECT

The body location struck by this effect is Destroyed (ignoring a Ritual of Peace). This effect causes the weapon to treat the location as if it had an AV of 0 and converts the damage type of the weapon to Artefact. This effect will automatically place the target in their grace period (even if it does not inflict a Mortal Wound for any reason) and prevents any damage to the location being healed or regenerated until a Heal Fatal Wound has been cast on it. Any armour on the location will not be damaged by the blow and this effect cannot be stopped by any Immunity to the Through effect.

HARM

MAGICAL DAMAGE EFFECT

The body location struck by this effect is Destroyed (ignoring a Ritual of Peace) unless the target is Immune to either the Harm effect or to Enchanted damage. This effect causes the weapon to treat the location as if it had an AV of 0 and converts the damage type of the weapon to Enchanted. Any armour on the location will not be damaged by the blow and this effect cannot be stopped by any Immunity to the Through effect.

NO DAMAGE

PHYSICAL DAMAGE EFFECT

This damage effect will prevent any damage done by this blow. Anyone may call No Damage, even if they do not have the skill to use the weapon. Children under 10 do not need to call No Damage, and are always assumed to use this effect.

PARALYSIS

PATTERN IMMOBILISATION EFFECT

For 1 minute, the target is rendered Immobilized.

STRIKEDOWN

PHYSICAL FORCE EFFECT

The target must fall, such that their torso makes contact with the ground. Alternately, you may crouch such that one knee and one fist touch the ground for ten seconds. Holding onto an object or person, or having them hold onto you, will not prevent you from falling. Once the fall is complete, you may get back up again. Before falling, ensure that it is safe to fall in your current location.

SUBDUE

PHYSICAL DAMAGE EFFECT

This damage effect will prevent any damage done by this blow from reducing that location to below 0. Anyone may call Subdue if using a Medium or Small weapon (do not use non-striking surfaces such as the flat of a blade, or pommel).

THROUGH

PHYSICAL DAMAGE EFFECT

This effect causes the weapon to treat the location as if it had an AV of 0. This does not convert the damage type of the blow. Any damage from the blow will be directly applied to the location and will not damage any armour on the location unless the armour is Immune to the Through effect.

Other Effects

These effects do not have levels and are not affected by Countermagic or High Countermagic except as described in the effect descriptions.

BEGUILE

MIND COMMAND EFFECT

The target becomes a devoted admirer and supporter of the person who has beguiled them, valuing the beguiler's life above their own. Unless the beguiler specifically states otherwise the target will not take any action against the beguiler, even if the target character would normally consider this to be in their best interests. Beguile cannot be removed by the Free Mind effect; it is a Charm and lasts until Dawn.

The strength of the Beguile effect is such that the target will allow the beguiler to kill them without offering any resistance, and will defend and protect the beguiler against any offensive action - even if this will result in the target's death. This willingness to grant protection, and sacrifice the target's own life, extends only to the beguiler, not to any allies that the beguiler may have.

The beguiler may set goals that they wish the target to help them achieve - these goals can be added to or amended (and new goals can be set) at any time while the Beguile effect is ongoing, but the beguiler must communicate these to the target. Any goals set must abide by the spirit of the rules and OOC safety considerations - if the target believes that a goal is inappropriate then they should seek advice from a Referee or Marshal.

The target will willingly help the beguiler in any way that they can in order to achieve the goals set. The target is not a mindless slave, simply and unquestioningly following direct commands, but rather a willing accomplice who retains their own personality - except that they will now turn all of their skills, knowledge, and creativity to the task of advancing the beguiler's stated goals. This may include offering information and advice as appropriate, or seeking clarification as to the beguiler's wishes if required.

If the beguile effect is not successfully removed before Dawn then the target will have no memory of being beguiled - they may recall the actions that they took while under the effect, but not that they were under such an effect. This restriction does not apply if the effect is successfully removed prior to Dawn.

PETRIFYMAGICAL SPECIAL EFFECT

The target is rendered immobile and enters their Grace Period. As soon as the effect starts the target is reduced to zero on all locations, this will count in all ways as Artefact damage. After the Grace Period ends, the target is dead and turned to stone. Items carried by the target are not turned to stone, and may be recovered using the normal rules for removing items from immobilised characters. Sanctuary has no effect on Petrify. To cure the effect one Countermagic must be cast for every complete minute or part thereof that the target has been under this effect, including the extra time that the following Heal Fatal will take. The Countermagic effects must be followed by a Heal Fatal Wound to the torso. If there is not enough Countermagic cast for the time elapsed when the Heal Fatal Wound is completed, then the cure will be ineffective and must be restarted.

TERRORMAGICAL SPECIAL EFFECT

The target of this ritual level effect is targeted as if by a Fear spell, but it is not possible to resist it or to be immune to it unless a lammie or loresheet explicitly grants an immunity to or ability to resist Terror.

Immunities

Any Immunity to damage types and effects that apply to either the character or their armour will cover both. E.g. if your armour is immune to normal damage, then so are you.

If you are Immune only to the damage type of a blow, then you must still take the damage effect. E.g. if you are Immune to normal and are struck by a normal paralysis blow then you will not take any damage from the blow but will still take the paralysis effect.

Some damage effects convert the damage type of the weapon based on the target being in a Target Group. If you are not in the Target Group, you will take the default damage type of the weapon. E.g. if you are an elf struck by a Human Bane weapon, you will take a point of normal damage from the blow, if you were a human struck by the same weapon you would take either a point of Artefact damage to your armour, or if the location has an AV of 0 the location will be Destroyed by Artefact damage.

If you are Immune only to a damage effect then you ignore everything listed in the effect description, but will still take the damage type of the weapon. E.g. if you are Immune to pattern effects or the Fatal effect and are struck by a normal Fatal to an armoured location you simply take a point of normal damage to the armour. The Fatal effect is ignored and does not convert the damage to Artefact Mithril shields are Immune to Shatter effects and Normal Crush. Enchanted shields are Immune to Shatter effects, Normal Crush and Enchanted Crush.

If you become immune to an effect while subject to it, the immunity will remove the effect, but will not restore any damage caused by it. E.g. if you are under the effect of a Fatal wound, and become immune to Fatal, you are still at -1 to that location, but the damage can be healed normally.

You cannot be specifically immune to Flame or Cold damage types unless you are also immune to Enchanted damage.

You cannot be specifically immune to Silver damage types unless you are also immune to Normal damage.

Section Four: Spell System

Magic Types

There are four main types of magic users: Mages, Incantors, Channellers and Ritualists. The terms for the practitioners of individual magical skills are Spellcaster, Shadow Mage, Enchanter, Healer, Corruptor, Light Incantor, Dark Incantor and Common Incantor. The definitions of these types of magic users are as follows.

MAGES

Collectively the lists Enchanting, Shadow Magic and Spellcasting are known as Mage Craft. Enchanting and Shadow Magic are specialisations of Spellcasting. Practitioners of these lists are classed as Mages for all lammies, loresheets and abilities.

INCANTORS

Collectively the lists Standard Incantation, Dark Incantation and Light Incantation are known as Incantation. Dark incantation and Light Incantation are specialisations of Standard Incantation. Practitioners of these lists are classed as Incantors for all lammies, loresheets and abilities.

CHANNELLERS

Collectively the lists Healing and Corruption are known as Channelling. Practitioners are classed as Channellers for all lammies, loresheets and abilities.

SUMMONERS

Collectively the lists Daemonology, Elementalism, Necromancy and Theology are known as Summoning. Practitioners are classed as Summoners for all lammies, loresheets and abilities.

RITUALISTS

Ritualists are capable of controlling ritual circles, transport circle and performing rites to allow them to generate spell effects or create magical effects. Such as creating magical weapons, infusing characters with special abilities or transporting characters from circle to circle. Practitioners are classed as Ritualists for all lammies, loresheets and abilities.

Casting Spells

This section covers the results of various effects that are likely to affect you while playing in the LT system.

All of the powers listed below have a vocal component and an action component. The vocal component (including any chant) must be in English, it must be as similar as possible to that printed below, and it must include any words underlined and be at least as long. It is the responsibility of the caster to make sure that the target hears their vocals and is aware of who or what is being targeted. Players should also be vigilant for an effect being targeted on them (or something about their person) that they may need to react to.

Some spells require the caster to Chant; a chant consists of a vocal that must be repeated. This requires Concentration.

An effect is a chant, if, and only if, the bold text part of its description uses the word “Chant”, “Chants” or “Chanting” (Regardless of any capitalisation). A chant effect that is modified by an OS (E.g. Cast Mass Charms) is still a chant. An ability similar to a chant spell that is granted by an OS (E.g. Rally, Source of Unlife) is NOT a chant.

The maximum duration for a chant effect by a single caster is 10 minutes – an on-going chant effect automatically ends 10 minutes after it was started. Even if the caster immediately recasts the effect this still counts as stopping and restarting – e.g. this will break an ongoing Sanctuary by a single caster. Multiple Sanctuaries may still be maintained on a single target simultaneously, and each one is timed separately

The vocal of a chant must be audible to the target or, if the caster and the target are the same, it must be audible to anyone within 3ft (~1m) of the caster.

The chant effect ends if the vocal is interrupted for more than 3 seconds at a time for any reason – interruptions include (but are not limited to) breathing, eating, drinking and making other game calls (e.g. Damage calls, “Innate Repel” when casting Forbidding, “Retribution <location>” when casting Retribution) Responding to a discern does not count as an interruption, but should only take as long as is necessary to convey the required information. Repeated use of this to avoid the need to chant is an abuse of the rules and will be considered cheating.

If a specific vocal is defined for a chant then an uninterrupted vocal must be completed at least once every 10 seconds or the effect will end.

A level 1 effect requires 1 Spell Card, a level 2 effect requires 2 Spell cards and a level 3 effect requires 4 Spell cards. You can only generate these effects if you have the relevant CS or OS. When casting an effect you must tear one or more (as appropriate) of your Spell cards in half. The card must be torn at the end of the vocal. At LT main events, you should collect your Spell cards from the guilds' area. At LT sanctioned events, they may use an honour system whereby spell cards are not required. Do not litter your spell cards.

Casting magic requires Concentration and that nothing be held in the primary hand. You may only perform one action that requires Concentration at a time. Attempting to perform another action that requires Concentration, being reduced to unconsciousness or any other action that states it will break Concentration will disrupt the effect. The Primary hand is used to hold and tear the Spell cards and, if required, to point at or touch the target. Until all the actions are performed, including the ripping of the Spell Card(s), there is no effect. The action component is performed during the casting of the spell and is the representation of the gestures required to cast the effect. Therefore, if your casting hand is unusable, you may not cast magic.

Some spells including Mage Armour and Paladins Armour produce Magical Armour effects. These may not be combined with any ability to enhance the AV of armour, unless explicitly stated that they work with Magical Armour effects. The Armour Use skills are not required to use this armour and it will not stack with normal armour (see Appendix 4, Definition of Terms - Stacking Armour, page 77). The maximum value of any Magical Armour (Paladins Armour, Mage Armour etc) is limited to 4 (Four) This effect is not covered by the Rule of Double regarding armour use.

Only the lists Spellcasting, Incantation and Healing, of levels 1 and 2, are available at character creation (see Appendix 1, Magic Skills, page 61). All other lists are obtainable through IC action in game and the purchase of the appropriate OS. Please see the Guilds or Game Control for further information on how your character might obtain these powers.

A character cannot cast Ranged spells in Medium Armour. A character cannot cast Ranged or Mass spells in Heavy Armour. Casting spells as part of a Wedge is the only exception to this.

Spell Cards

Spell cards are an OOC representation of a character's available power and as such cannot be stolen, given, traded or otherwise transferred IC. Players found stealing Spell cards may be asked to leave site.

Spell cards are used to aid you in keeping track of the amount of power that you have cast and still have available to cast and to show targets of your powers that a magic effect has been cast on them. When casting an effect you must tear one or more (as appropriate) of your cards in half. The card(s) must be torn at the end of the vocal.

Your skill level determines the number of cards you receive. Spell cards are only valid for the day printed on them. Anyone found littering their cards will lose their allocation for the next day.

For events with a 24-hour time-in, a day is considered to be Dawn to Dawn. For the LT main events a day is considered to be the daily time-in period, which is 10am-2am. At LT main events, you should collect your power cards from the designated area.

Item Spell Cards

Item Spell Cards work in exactly the same way as normal Spell cards, but are representative of the available power in an item or other lammie. The lammie determines how many Spell cards the lammie has, and this is not boosted by CS or OS. Item spell cards can be collected from Game Control.

Sigils

Sigils are used for temporary enchantments placed on people or items. The name of the person casting the Sigil, the target the Sigil applies to and the casting date must be written on the Sigil card for it to be valid. Sigils are OOC and cannot be stolen or traded. Sigils may be obtained from the Guilds or from Game Control. Certain spells and effects require a Sigil to be cast, for example Endurance, Mage Armour and Paladins Armour. Sigils last until Dawn and cannot be transferred to another character (except when cast). At LT sanctioned events, you may be able to collect Sigils from Game Control. While Inactive (not yet cast) they have a power rating of 0, however when active they have a power rating of 1 (note this information will be indicated on the sigil card as well). If the total amount of power you are carrying goes above your current maximum limit to the point where Items stop working the effect will also stop, if the total reduces they will start working again. If you go over your limit to the point where Items would start being destroyed, All active Sigils (and associated effects) will expire (no damage caused), before anything else.

Wedges

Only effects that are listed as being able to be cast as part of a wedge can be cast using a wedge. To be part of a wedge, all casters within the wedge must be able to cast the required effect. E.g., only characters able to cast Dismiss may be in a Dismiss wedge. A wedge is a formation of casters with the Focus as the person at the front of it. If you are part of a wedge then you can channel the power to the focus as a Touch effect. All participants in the wedge must pass their Spell cards forward to the focus so that the total power level may be calculated.

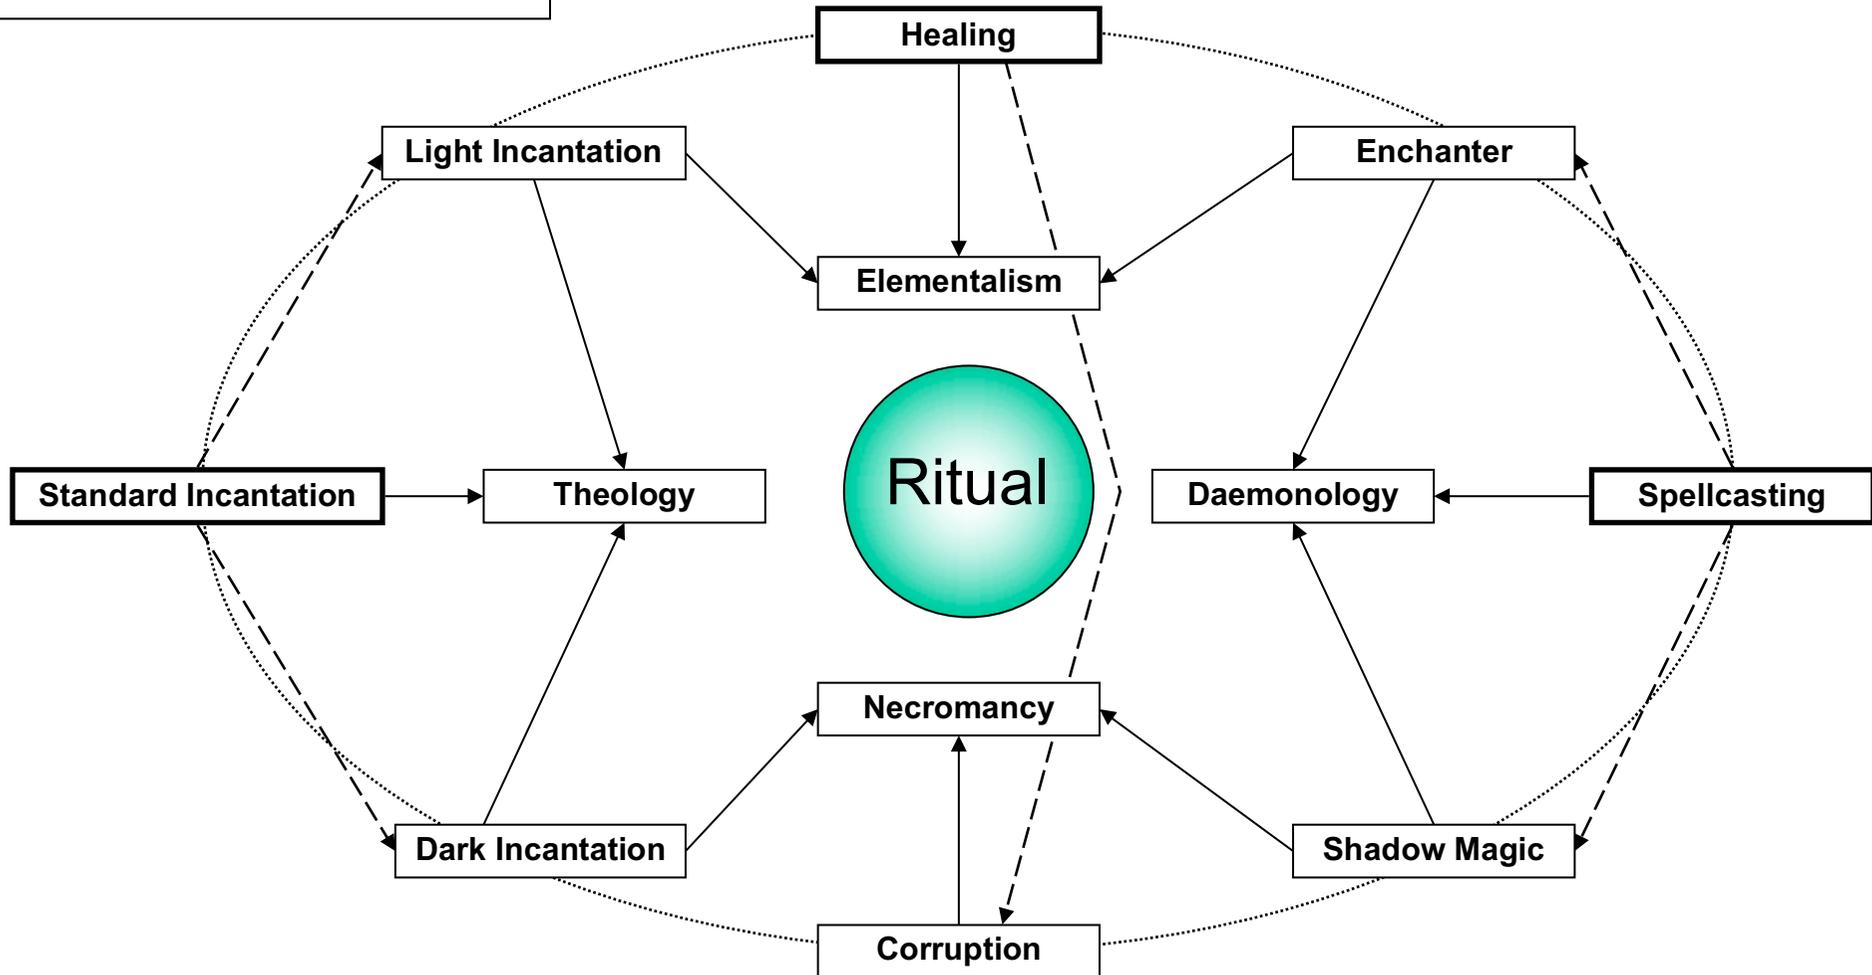

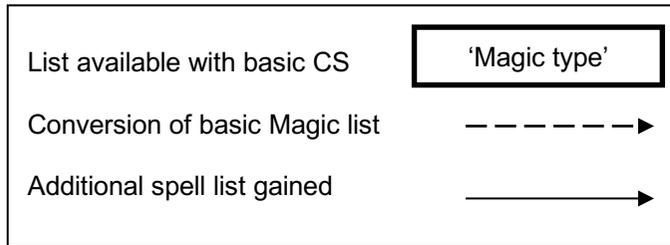

Once Spell cards have been passed forward, they cannot be recovered. The Focus of a wedge should point at the target and tear all of the Spell cards contributed by members of the wedge, or hand the Spell cards to a Referee or Marshal, and cast the spell. As a member of a wedge (other than the Focus), maintain contact with the member in front of you by holding onto their shoulder. Once the Focus has started receiving Spell cards from the members of the wedge, then the wedge is considered to be in progress. While the wedge is in progress, the Focus of the wedge is Immune to mind effects.

Note that if a wedge is in progress for more than ten minutes without the Focus casting the power that they are controlling, or the wedge breaks up prior to the effect being generated, then unpredictable events may occur. Once the Focus of the wedge has received all of the Spell cards being contributed then they may break away from the wedge to cast the spell. However, they cannot move more than 10ft (~3m) away from the 2nd rank of the wedge and must complete the casting within 10 seconds of breaking away.

Rites

Some spells are categorised as Rites. These also require Ritual Magic to perform. (See Chapter 2, Section 5 – Rituals and Rites, Rites, Rulebook Rites, Ad Hoc Rites, Plot Rites page 45)

Magic Lists

Spell Lists

The tables below show all the spells lists that are available. The brackets following each spell name show the Range, Class, Characteristics and Duration of the spell.

Repair Unliving - (Tch,Pat,Cur,Cht)	Weapon of Cold - (Slf,Mag,Enc,1m)

The following lists gain the ability to Control and heal various creatures with links to the Void (The Elemental and Demonic Planes, the Plane of Unlife, the Plane of Life and the Plane of the Dead). These skills are in addition to your existing skills and do not replace them. All summoning of special creatures' works through Rituals performed in Ritual Circles. Through further learning (via ritual) characters eventually can become better at summoning such creatures. See the Lorien Trust publication, Occupational Skills: A Guide to Advancement for further details.

Necromancy

Necromancy effects deal in the raising and healing of Unliving

Necromancy vocals: “By the power of Necromancy” and “By the High power of Necromancy” for Third level spells.

First level	Second Level	Third level
Corrupt Body - (Rit,Mag,Spc,1m)	Full Repair Unliving - (Tch,Phy,Cur,Ins)	Greater Corrupt Body - (Rit,Mag,Spc,1m)

Daemonology

Daemonology effects deal in the Controlling and healing of Daemonic creatures

Daemonology vocals: “By the power of Daemonology” and “By the High power of Daemonology” for Third level spells.

First level	Second Level	Third level
Control Daemon - (Rng,Pat,Cmd,Var)	Full Cure Daemon - (Tch,Phy,Cur,Ins)	High Control Daemon - (Rng,Pat,Cmd,Var)

Full Spell Descriptions

This section contains the full description of all the spells for every spell list in alphabetical order. Some spells appear on several lists, so you should substitute the appropriate vocal for the source of the spell you are casting.

ANCESTRAL STRIKE

Vocals:

By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I Enchant my weapon'

For 1 minute the caster gains the ability to strike for 'Enchanted' with any melee weapon in their primary hand or a large melee weapon held in both hands, unless the weapon is Silver or already does a damage type other than normal. The weapon does not count as enchanted in any way other than to strike for enchanted damage and you may swap weapons during the spell effect.

SELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Level 2 Effect

ANCESTRAL WEAPON

Vocals:

By the 'High' power of the Ancestors 'allow me to Affect <X>'

For 10 minutes the caster gains the ability to strike for Affect <X> with any melee weapon in their primary hand or a large melee weapon held in both hands, unless the weapon already generates a damage effect. <X> must be chosen at the time of casting to Affect Daemon, Elemental, Unliving or Ancestral and then cannot be changed for the duration of this effect. The weapon does not count as enchanted in any way other than to strike for enchanted damage, and you may swap weapons during the spell effect.

SELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Level 3 Effect

ATTRACT UNLIVING

Vocals:

By the power of Corruption 'I Attract that Unliving'

For as long as the caster chants, the targeted unliving must move via direct route toward the caster. Holding on to an object or person will not prevent the target from being attracted, but any barriers that prevent their physical passage, such as walls, will stop them. They may defend themselves, but may only attack someone who is within their direct path to the caster. Once the effect has expired they can move freely again. This effect has no influence over Intelligent unliving but they will be aware of the effect being cast on them.

RANGED PATTERN COMMAND EFFECT

Level 1 Effect

AURA OF DEFENCE

Vocals:

By the power of the Ancestors / Life 'I claim an Aura of Defence'

For 10 seconds, the caster and all equipment carried by the caster gain Immunity to all level 1 & 2 ranged effects and Immunity to Normal damage. This effect may only be used for defence, if the caster casts any offensive effect or strikes anyone, the effect will cease immediately.

SELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Level 2 Effect

AURA OF IMMUNITY

Vocals:

By the power of 'High' Magic 'I claim an Aura of Immunity'

For as long as the caster maintains the chant, the caster and their equipment are Immune to all Ranged and Mass effects. This effect cannot be countered by a Countermagic or High Countermagic.

SELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Level 3 Effect

BEFRIENDRANGED MIND COMMAND EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 1 Effect

By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I befriend you!'

The target believes that the caster is an ally that must be defended for 10 seconds. The target may, if they feel they have significant reasons, struggle against the control. In this case, they cannot perform any other action (including defending themselves) for 10 seconds instead. If the caster attacks the target in any way then this effect immediately ends. This effect is a Charm.

BLASTRANGED MAGICAL DAMAGE EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 2 Effect

By the power of Magic 'I Blast your <location>'

The target takes an Enchanted hit to the named location.

CAUSE DISEASESELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 2 Effect

By the power of Corruption 'I imbue my weapon to Cause Disease'

The caster's next successful blow with the melee weapon held in their primary hand or a large melee weapon held in both hands will strike for the Disease damage effect, unless the weapon already generates another damage effect. If they do not strike someone within 1 min the effect will be lost, but they may swap weapons within this period without losing the effect. This effect does not change the damage type of the weapon and can be used with a weapon of any damage type.

CAUSE FATAL WOUNDSELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of Corruption 'I imbue my weapon to Cause Fatal Wound'

The caster's next successful blow with the melee weapon held in their primary hand or a large melee weapon held in both hands will strike for the Fatal damage effect, unless the weapon already generates another damage effect. If they do not strike someone within 1 min the effect will be lost, but they may swap weapons within this period without losing the effect.

CAUSE PARALYSISSELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 2 Effect

By the power of Corruption 'I imbue my weapon to inflict Paralysis'

The caster's next successful blow with the melee weapon held in their primary hand or a large melee weapon held in both hands will strike for the Paralysis damage effect, unless the weapon already generates another damage effect. If they do not strike someone within 1 min the effect will be lost, but they may swap weapons within this period without losing the effect. This effect does not change the damage type of the weapon and can be used with a weapon of any damage type.

CONFUSIONRANGED MIND COMMAND EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 1 Effect

By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I confuse you'

For 10 seconds, or until they are struck, the target will be dazed. They can do nothing apart from stand still and look around. The target can parry or block with their weapon or shield, but cannot attack or cast spells until the effect expires or they have been struck (whichever is sooner). This effect breaks Concentration.

CONTROL <TARGET GROUP> <RANK>RANGED PATTERN COMMAND EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors 'I Control <target group> rank <X>'

This spell can be part of a Wedge. <X> is equal to the total number of spell cards used in casting. The caster may use up to 2 Spell cards when casting this effect. If the target is <Target Group> and has a Control level equal to or lower than the rank <X> of Control cast, then they are Controlled by the caster. If Controlled, the target who is a member of the <target group> will do anything commanded of them by the Controller, but this will not affect memories. No counter or Immunity can stop a Control unless it says so explicitly. The duration of the effect will vary depending on the Dismiss rank of the creature Controlled.

COUNTERMAGICRANGED MAGICAL COUNTER EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark ancestors/ Magic / Life 'I counter that spell'*This stops a single level 1 or 2 ranged effect occurring, except for Dismiss or Control.

Countermagic must be started within 3 seconds of the completion of the casting of the effect to be countered, and cannot counter Mass effects. You can still cast this spell even if the effect that you are countering would prevent you from doing so.

COURAGETOUCH MIND ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of the Ancestors 'I grant you Courage'

Until Dawn, the target is Immune to all Fear effects. The caster must give the target an appropriate High Magic Sigil with the target's name, the time of casting and the effect noted on it. The target must retain this Sigil for the effect to work.

CURE WOUNDTOUCH PHYSICAL CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors 'I Cure this Wound'

Restores 1 body hit to the target location. This will only be effective on a being with a Living Pattern and will not be effective on a character under on a location suffering from a Fatal Wound, the effects Disease or Decay.

DETECT MAGICMASS MAGICAL DETECT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of Magic 'I Detect Magic'

Detects any character within 10ft (~3m) of the caster that has a magical or magically active item or effect on them. Any character within range of the caster that has a magical or magically active item or effect on them must say "Ping" in a loud clear voice. In character, this effect causes this noise, so everyone around the Detected character is aware of the effect. If you are unsure, whether you should 'Ping' to this effect check with a Referee, Marshal or Game Control. This effect only works on items that have a PR of 1 or more.

DETECT UNLIVINGMASS PATTERN DETECT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors / Magic / Corruption 'I Detect Unliving'

Detects any unliving within 10ft (~3m) of the caster. Any character within range of the caster that is Unliving or Detects as Unliving, must say "Ping" in a loud clear voice. In character, this effect causes this noise, so everyone around the Detected character is aware of the effect. If you are unsure check with a Referee, Marshal or Game Control.

DISMISS <LEVEL>RANGED MAGICAL SPECIAL EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors ‘I Dismiss you level <X>’

This spell may be part of a Wedge. <X> is equal to the total number of spell cards used in casting. The caster may use up to 2 Spell cards when casting this effect. If the target has a Dismiss rank equal to or lower than the level of Dismiss cast, then they are dismissed, with any repercussions that this may entail. A Countermagic, High Countermagic, Iron Will or Aura of Immunity cannot stop a Dismiss. No Immunity will stop a Dismiss unless it says so explicitly.

DISTRACTRANGED MIND COMMAND EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of Magic ‘I Distract you’

For 10 seconds (or until struck), the target’s full attention is concentrated on what is directly behind them. This effect breaks concentration. This effect is a Charm.

EMBODY UNLIVINGSELF PATTERN ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the ‘High’ power of Corruption ‘I Embody Unliving’

The caster corrupts their own pattern into that similar to an Unliving, lasts until Dawn. They gain Immunity to the Ritual of Peace, as well as Immunity to the effects Fatal, Paralysis, Decay and Disease. They gain an Unliving Dismiss level of 10 and Detect as Unliving. They have no Unliving type and cannot be Controlled. The caster does not count as Unliving in any other way. This effect will not work on any creature that already has a Dismiss level.

The caster must obtain an appropriate High Magic Sigil with their name, the time of casting and the effect noted on it. They must retain this card for the effect to work. If you are Dismissed, the effect will immediately terminate and you will take a Fatal effect to the torso.

ENDURANCETOUCH PHYSICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the ‘High’ power of Magic / Life ‘I grant you Endurance’

Until Dawn, the target's body locations' maximum hits are increased by 1 (+1 LHV). (See Body Locations, page 15 and Appendix 4, Gaining and Losing Hits, page 76). The caster must give the target an appropriate High Magic Sigil with the target’s name, the time of casting and the effect noted on it. The target must retain this Sigil for the effect to work.

ENTHRALRANGED MIND COMMAND EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of Magic ‘I Enthral you’

For as long as the caster continues to talk in meaningful sentences (as per a chant), the target will follow them anywhere. Whilst under this effect the target cannot cast any spells or perform any action other than to follow the caster. This effect will be broken if the target takes a wound (not armour damage) or if the caster ceases to speak meaningfully. This effect is a Charm and breaks concentration.

FEARRANGED MIND COMMAND EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect

By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors / Corruption 'I command you Fear me' For 10 seconds, the target Fears the caster. For 10 seconds, the target will attempt to remain at least 10ft (~3m) away from the caster. If closer than this when the effect takes place then they must move away as quickly as it is OOC safe to do so. The target must do everything within their power to flee the caster including using weapons, abilities and/or casting magic. However, they will not attack the caster by any means for the duration of the effect. Fear breaks Concentration. Neither holding on to an object or person nor being held onto will protect you from this effect.

FORBIDDINGMASS PHYSICAL FORCE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of Magic 'I claim Forbidding'

For as long as the caster chants, the caster may create the effect Innate Mass Repel at will. The caster can nominate up to two other people at time of casting to be Immune to the caster's Mass Repel until the Forbidding effect ends. Whilst chanting this effect the caster cannot move faster than a slow walk. Forbidding may not be used on large groups or in mass combat without consulting a Referee or Marshal for safety reasons. Neither holding on to an object or person, nor being held onto, will protect you from the Repel effect.

FORTIFY BODYTOUCH PHYSICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of the Ancestors / Magic 'I Fortify your Body'

For 10 minutes the target and their armour become Immune to the Through and Crush effects.

FREE MINDTOUCH MIND CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect

By the power of Life 'I Free your Mind'

Removes all mind effects except Beguile that are currently affecting the target. This effect is only effective upon a character with a living pattern.

FREEZERANGED MAGICAL IMMOBILISATION EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of Magic 'I Freeze you'

For 1 minute, the target is rendered Immobile.

By the power of the Ancestors 'I Fully Cure your <location>'

Restores all body hits to the target location. This will only be effective on a being with a Living Pattern, and will not be effective on a location suffering from a Fatal Wound, or on a character under the effects Disease or Decay.

FULL CURE <TARGET GROUP>TOUCH PHYSICAL CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect

By the power of Daemonology / the Ancestors / Elementalism 'I Fully Cure this <target group>'s <location>'

Restores all body hits to the target location on creature belonging to the <target group>. This will not be effective on a location suffering from a Fatal Wound, or on a character under the effects Disease or Decay.

TOUCH PHYSICAL CURE EFFECTFULL REPAIR UNLIVING*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of Necromancy 'I Fully Repair this Unliving's <location>'*Restores all body hits to the target location on an unliving. This will not be effective on a character under the effects Disease, Decay or on a location suffering from a Fatal Wound.FUMBLE*RANGED PHYSICAL FORCE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of Magic 'I force you to Fumble that <item>'*The specified item is forced from the target's grasp. The target holding it must then release the targeted item and allow it to fall to the floor. If the item cannot be dropped for any legitimate reason, then the item may not be used for 3 seconds. You may not just swap the item from one hand to the other or catch it as it falls. Once the item has fallen as far as it possibly can, you may attempt to pick it up again. In special cases, such as when allowing an item to fall could harm the item or someone nearby, you may place the item carefully on the ground rather than dropping it. If the item is attached to your wrist/hand (in addition to being held) then it must be released and allowed to fall from your grasp and hang loosely for 3 seconds before being recovered. Any items that are attached to your wrist/hand must be fastened in a safe, non-constricting and easy to remove manner.HALT*RANGED PHYSICAL IMMOBILISATION EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I Halt you'*For 10 seconds the target is Immobilised.*HALT UNLIVING*RANGED PATTERN IMMOBILISATION EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of Magic / Corruption 'I Halt that Unliving'*For 10 seconds the target Unliving is Immobilised.*HARM*SELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of the Dark Ancestors 'I imbue my weapon to do great Harm'*The caster's next successful blow with the melee weapon held in their primary hand or a large melee weapon held in both hands will strike for the Harm damage effect, unless the weapon already generates another damage effect. If you do not strike someone within 1 min the effect will be lost, but you may swap weapon within this period without losing the effect.*HEAL FATAL WOUND, CHANT OF*TOUCH PATTERN CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of Life 'I Heal this Fatal Wound'*By chanting this spell for 10 seconds, the caster can remove a Fatal effect from the indicated location. This does not heal any damage on the location, including the damage done by the Fatal. Heal Fatal Wound must be cast on a location to remove the Fatal effects before that location can be healed.

HEAL WOUND, CHANT OFTOUCH PATTERN CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of Life 'I Heal this wound'

This effect restores 1 point of damage to the location, for every full 10 seconds of contact during which the caster chants the vocals. Heal does not stop any special effects, such as poisons, from continuing to act on the target, but will restore any damage already caused by such an effect. There is no limit to the number of hits that can be restored to a location, but you cannot restore a location to more than its maximum value. If the chant is interrupted then this will stop the effect, but any healing already done will remain. This effect cannot be used to restore damage caused by the Fatal, Disease or Decay effects until these effects have been removed.

HIGH CONTROL <TARGET GROUP> <RANK>RANGED PATTERN COMMAND EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of the Dark Ancestors / Magic / Daemonology / the Ancestors / Elementalism 'I Control <target group> rank <X>'

This spell can be part of a Wedge. <X> is equal to the total number of spell cards used in casting. The caster may use up to 4 Spell cards when casting this effect. If the target is of the target group and has a Control level equal to or lower than the rank <X> of Control cast, then they are Controlled by the caster. When Controlled, the target creature will do anything commanded of them by the Controller, but this will not affect memories. No counter or Immunity can stop a Control unless it says so explicitly. The duration of the effect will vary depending on the control rank of the target character.

HIGH COUNTERMAGICRANGED MAGICAL COUNTER EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors / Magic 'I Counter that spell'*This stops a single level 1, 2 or 3 ranged effect occurring, except for Dismiss or Control.

High Countermagic must be started within 3 seconds of the completion of the casting of the effect to be countered, and cannot counter Mass effects. You can still cast this spell even if the effect that you are countering would prevent you from doing so.

HIGH DISMISS <RANK>RANGED MAGICAL SPECIAL EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of the Ancestors 'I Dismiss you rank <X>'

This spell may be part of a Wedge. <X> is equal to the total number of spell cards used in casting. The caster may add up to 4 Spell cards to the level of the Dismiss. If the target has a Dismiss rank equal to or lower than the rank of Dismiss cast, then they are Dismissed. A Countermagic, High Countermagic, Iron Will or Aura of Immunity cannot stop a Dismiss. No Immunity will stop a Dismiss unless it says so explicitly.

INFUSE SHIELDTOUCH MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of Magic 'I Infuse your Shield with magic'

For 1 minute, any shield the target uses will be Immune to the effects Shatter, Normal Crush and Enchanted Crush.

IRON WILLTOUCH MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors / Magic 'I grant you Iron Will'

The caster hands the target a one of the two cards used to cast the spell, with the target's name, the time of casting and the effect noted on it. The target may use this spell card as a Countermagic spell with the vocals "By my Iron Will, I Counter that spell". A character may have multiple Iron Wills. This acts in precisely the same manner as a Countermagic effect, except that the target may utilise this power even if they are wearing armour (of any description) and/or their casting hand is not available. Any Iron Wills not used by Dawn will be lost.

MAGE ARMOURTOUCH MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of Magic 'I grant you Mage Armour'

Until Dawn, if the target is a Mage, they gain magical armour with an AV of 2 on all locations. A Mage Bolt will end the Mage Armour effect, but will not damage the target. If all locations reach 0 AV then this effect ends. The caster must give the target an appropriate High Magic Sigil with the target's name, the time of casting and the effect noted on it. The target must retain this Sigil for the effect to work. If this armour becomes damaged then any character with Spellcasting can repair it using a single Spell Card, to restore fully the protection value of the armour on a single location by touching it, and speaking the vocals "By my power I replenish this armour". The Mage Armour effect may be recast but the new instance will replace the previous one. The Mage armour does not interfere with spell casting but will not prevent any effect that would normally go through armour except for Mage Bolt, which has the above affect.

MAGE BOLTRANGED MAGICAL DAMAGE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of Magic 'I strike your <location> Mage Bolt'

The target location is Destroyed (ignoring a Ritual of Peace), unless the target is Immune to either Mage Bolt or Enchanted damage. This effect treats the location as if it had an AV of 0 and inflicts Enchanted damage. Any armour on the location will not be damaged and this effect cannot be stopped by Immunity to the Through effect. Mage Bolt will not damage a target protected by Mage Armour, but will destroy the Mage Armour.

MASS FEARMASS MIND COMMAND EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors / Magic / Corruption 'I cause Mass Fear'

Generates a Mass Fear effect within 10ft (~9m) of the caster, or for 10ft (~9m) directly in front of the caster in an arc indicated by the casters arms at the time of casting. For 10 seconds, the target will attempt to remain at least 10ft (~3m) away from the caster. If closer than this when the effect takes place then they must move away as quickly as it is OOC safe to do so. Mass Fear may not be used on large groups or in mass combat without consulting a Referee or Marshal for safety reasons. The target must do everything within their power to flee the caster including using weapons, abilities and/or casting magic. Neither holding on to an object or person nor being held onto will protect you from this effect.

MELEE IMMUNITY, CHANT OFVocals:*By the power of Magic 'I grant you Immunity to Melee Weapons'

The caster must place both their hands on the target's shoulders (with their permission) and continue to chant the vocals. Whilst the caster maintains contact with the target, the target (not the caster) is Immune to Normal damage delivered by melee weapons. If the caster breaks concentration or contact with the target, or the chant is terminated then this effect ends. You may target yourself by touching your torso with your primary hand during the initial casting. After the initial cast, you may take any action, including fighting, that does not require concentration.

TOUCH PHYSICAL ENCHANT EFFECTLevel 2 Effect*MEND*Vocals:*By the power of Magic 'I Mend this <item>'*Fully repairs the targeted item that has been Shattered.*TOUCH PHYSICAL CURE EFFECT*Level 1 Effect*MEND ARMOUR*Vocals:*By the power of Magic 'I Repair this Armour'*The location's AV is fully restored.*TOUCH PHYSICAL CURE EFFECT*Level 1 Effect*MISSILE IMMUNITY, CHANT OF*Vocals:*By the power of Magic 'I grant you Immunity to Missiles'

The caster must place both their hands on the target's shoulders (with their permission) and continue to chant the vocals. Whilst the caster maintains contact with the target, the target (not the caster) is Immune to Normal damage delivered by projectiles and thrown weapons. If the caster breaks concentration or contact with the target, or the chant is terminated then this effect ends. You may target yourself by touching your torso with your primary hand during the initial casting. After the initial cast, you may take any action, including fighting, that does not require concentration.

TOUCH PHYSICAL ENCHANT EFFECTLevel 2 Effect*MUTE*Vocals:*By the power of Magic 'I strike you Mute'

For 1 minute, the target cannot speak or make any other kind of sound vocally. This prevents the target from using any form of IC vocal. Any Chant effects, spells or Rites the target is casting will be interrupted.

RANGED PHYSICAL FORCE EFFECTLevel 2 Effect

PALADIN'S ARMOURTOUCH MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I grant you Paladins Armour' Until Dawn, if the target is an Incantor, they gain magical armour with an AV of 2 on all locations. A Fatal effect will destroy the armour completely, ending the Paladin's Armour effect, but will not affect the target. If all locations reach 0 AV then this effect ends. The caster must give the target an appropriate High Magic Sigil with the target's name, the time of casting and the effect noted on it. The target must retain this Sigil for the effect to work. If this armour becomes damaged then any character with Incantation can repair it using a single Spell Card to restore fully the protection value of the armour on a single location, by touching it and using the vocals "by the power of the ancestors I replenish this armour". The Paladin's Armour effect may be recast, but the new instance will replace the previous one. The Paladins Armour does not interfere with spell casting but will not prevent any effect that would normally go through armour. Except for Fatal, this has the above affect.

PROTECTION, CHANT OFTOUCH PHYSICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect

By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I grant you Protection' The caster must place both their hands on the target's shoulders (with their permission) and continue to chant the vocals. Whilst the caster maintains concentration and contact with the target, the target can ignore the first blow to strike each of their locations as if it were parried. This includes ignoring all of its effects. You may target self by touching your torso with your primary hand during the initial cast. After the initial cast, you may take any action, including fighting, that does not require concentration.

PROTECTION FROM PARALYSISTOUCH PATTERN ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I grant you Protection from Paralysis' Until Dawn, the target is Immune to the Paralysis effect. The caster must give the target an appropriate High Magic Sigil with the target's name, the time of casting and the effect noted on it. The target must retain this Sigil for the effect to work.

PURGE ALL POISONSTOUCH PHYSICAL CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect

By the power of Life 'I Purge All Poisons' Removes any alchemical venom, weapon oil, ingestive or vapour poisons that the target is currently under the effects of. Any active effects of the poison are removed instantly, but this does not restore any damage already inflicted by the poison.

PURGE POISONTOUCH PHYSICAL CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect

By the power of Magic / Life 'I Purge poisons' Removes any alchemical venom or weapon oil that the target is currently under the effects of. Any active effects of the poison are removed instantly, but this does not restore any damage already inflicted by the poison.

RALLY, CHANT OFMASS MIND CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of Life 'Rally to me!' For as long as the caster continues to chant the vocals this effect will make all characters, including the caster, within 10ft (~3m) of the caster Immune to Fear effects.

REMOVE DECAYTOUCH PATTERN CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / Life 'I Remove Decay from this body'*Removes any Decay effect from which the target may be suffering. This effect will not heal any damage, but will allow the target to now be healed in the normal way.*REMOVE DISEASE*TOUCH PATTERN CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / Life 'I Remove Disease from this body'*Removes any Disease effect from which the target may be suffering. This effect will not heal any damage, but will allow the target to now be healed in the normal way.*REMOVE FEAR*TOUCH MIND ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / Life 'I Remove Fear from your mind'*For 10 seconds, the target is Immune to all Fear effects.*TOUCH PATTERN CURE EFFECT*REMOVE PARALYSIS*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of Life 'I Remove Paralysis from this body'*Removes any Paralysis effect from which the target may be suffering. This effect will not heal any damage.*REPAIR UNLIVING*TOUCH PATTERN CURE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Dark Ancestors / Corruption 'I Repair this Unliving'*This effect restores 1 point of damage to the indicated location on the target Unliving, for every full 10 seconds of contact during which the caster chants the vocals. Repair Unliving does not stop any special effects, such as poisons, from continuing to act on the target, but will restore any damage already caused by such an effect. There is no limit to the number of hits that can be restored to a location, but you cannot restore a location to more than its maximum value. If the chant is interrupted then this will stop the effect, but any repair already done will remain.*REPEL*RANGED PHYSICAL FORCE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of Magic 'I Repel you'*For 10 seconds, the target must remain at least 10ft (~3m) away from the caster. If closer than this when the effect takes place then they must move away as quickly as it is OOC safe to do so. Neither holding on to an object or person nor being held onto will protect you from this effect. Once the duration of the effect is complete, you may move freely again. This has no effect on unconscious characters.*RETRIBUTION, CHANT OF*SELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I claim Retribution'*For as long as the caster Chants, any character that strikes the caster takes a point of Artefact Through damage directly to the same body location as the body location they struck on the caster. The caster must take a wound, not armour damage, to trigger this effect. This call only has an effect if the target has struck the caster with a melee weapon. The caster indicates this by saying "Retribution <Location>". Total Body hit monsters cannot have Retribution cast on them.

SANCTUARY, CHANT OFTOUCH PATTERN ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors 'I grant you Sanctuary'

By touching a target with a Living Pattern, the caster may prevent the target from dying, so long as the caster continues to chant and maintain contact with the target with at least one hand. This effect does not interfere with the passing of the target's Grace Period, which will continue as normal. You may not take any other action whilst maintaining this chant, but others may still perform actions towards you or the target. Several sanctuaries may be maintained on a single target simultaneously. While active, Chant of Sanctuary may prevent a character from dying, even if all their locations have been reduced to -1 LHV, their grace period ends or they are affected by a Lethal poison. Should a person under a Sanctuary be suffering from any unresolved effect that would kill them immediately, then they will die as soon as the Sanctuary is broken. Sanctuary has no effect on Petrify.

SHATTER <ITEM>RANGED PHYSICAL FORCE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of Magic 'I Shatter that <Item>'

Destroys the targeted weapon or shield. The item can no longer be used for anything (including parrying). This spell will have no effect on magical items (including Enchanted and Artefact weapons). Shatter does not break an item into pieces; it merely renders the item unusable. Shatter will not work upon armour.

SHIELD FROM CORRUPTIONTOUCH PATTERN ENCHANT EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 3 Effect*By the 'High' power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors / Life 'I Shield you from Corruption'*For 10 minutes, the target is Immune to the effects Fatal, Decay and Disease.*SLEEP*RANGED MIND COMMAND EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of Magic 'I command you Sleep'

For 10 seconds the target falls over and drops into a deep magical sleep. The target cannot be woken by any means. OOC you should stay aware of your surroundings and be prepared to move to a safer location if necessary. You may not use this safety move for IC advantage.

SPEAK WITH DEADTOUCH PATTERN COMMAND EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 2 Effect*By the power of the Ancestors / the Dark Ancestors 'I Speak with the Dead'

For 1 minute, the caster may ask the target deceased character questions and they will respond with truthful one-word answers to the best of their IC knowledge. Answers are restricted to "Yes", "no", "Unknown" or "Maybe". This effect only works until the Dawn after the character's death and requires the dead character's body, but may be cast multiple times within those parameters. This effect will not work if the body has been raised as Unliving, or already been subject to a first or second tier effect (most Rites that affect corpses).

STRIKEDOWNRANGED PHYSICAL FORCE EFFECT*Vocals:*Level 1 Effect*By the power of Magic 'I Strike you Down'

The target must fall, such that their torso makes contact with the ground. Alternately, you may crouch such that one knee and one fist touch the ground for ten seconds. Holding onto an object or person, or having them hold onto you, will not prevent you from falling. Once the fall is complete, you may get back up again. Before falling, ensure that it is safe to fall in your current location.

TOTAL HEAL

TOUCH PATTERN CURE EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of Life 'I Total Heal this body'

After chanting for 10 seconds whilst touching the target, this effect will remove any alchemical poison, the effects Paralysis, Fatal, Decay, and Disease and restore all locations on the target to full body hits (LHV), in this order.

WASTING, CHANT OF

TOUCH PATTERN ENCHANT EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 2 Effect

By the power of the Dark Ancestors / Magic / Corruption 'I Waste this Pattern'

For each full minute that the caster touches the target (target must have a Living pattern and be in their Grace Period), and chants the vocal of this effect, the maximum duration of the target's current Grace Period is reduced by 1 minute. For example, after the first minute of combined Grace Period and Wasting, the remainder of the target's Grace Period is brought forward to 8 minutes. Termination of the Chant of Wasting does not cause the lost time to be regained. Multiple Wasting effects have no additional affect. If the target dies while under a Chant of Wasting effect, then their pattern is sent to the Plane of Unlife. This is a first tier corpse effect.

WEAPON OF COLD

SELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 2 Effect

By the power of Magic 'I create a Weapon of Cold'

For 1 minute the caster gains the ability to strike for 'Cold' with any melee weapon in their primary hand or a large melee weapon held in both hands, unless the weapon is Silver or already does a damage type other than normal. The weapon does not count as enchanted in any way other than to strike for enchanted damage and you may swap weapons during the spell effect.

WEAPON OF FLAME

SELF MAGICAL ENCHANT EFFECT

Vocals:

Level 3 Effect

By the 'High' power of Magic 'I create a Weapon of Flame'

For 10 minutes the caster gains the ability to strike for 'Flame' with any melee weapon in their primary hand or a large melee weapon held in both hands, unless the weapon is Silver or already does a damage type other than normal. The weapon does not count as enchanted in any way other than to strike for enchanted damage and you may swap weapons during the spell effect.

Section Five: Rituals and Rites

Rites

There are 3 types of Rite.

Rulebook Rites are those rites described in the rules (and on certain loresheets). They have clearly defined rules on who can do them, when and how they are performed, and what effects they have.

Ad Hoc Rites are those non-rulebook Rites that you decide to attempt, in order to accomplish an objective or get a greater power to help you. These are generally considered to be hopeful at best, and often receive little or no result unless a powerful entity happens to offer assistance (usually to further its own goals).

Plot Rites are those that have been prescribed as a requirement to complete a goal or objective. They have predetermined criteria that must be met in order to succeed, and predefined effects that will occur based on success or failure although you will not necessarily know what those criteria or effects are in advance. Plot Rites normally receive an immediate and obvious result when completed correctly.

All Rites require Ritual Magic to use and require Concentration to perform. Rulebook Rites may have additional requirements - these are specified in the rules for each and will usually require at least one specific CS, OS, or loresheet. Ad Hoc Rites and Plot Rites require an appropriate Referee and one person with Ritual Magic 1 or higher who spends 4 power cards. There are several other factors you can include in these Rites in order to improve the chances of the right people hearing your message or request for help; these include getting more people involved, using a ritualist with higher skill levels like Ritual Magic 2 or 3, using a specific appropriate rite focus, and/or offering up more power cards.

All Rites must start with the Ritualist clearly stating that they are beginning a Rite. All Rulebook Rites must end with the name of the Rite being clearly stated to everyone involved in the Rite. The Rite effect does not occur until the Rite is complete. The power cards for the Rite must be torn at the end of the Rite. All power cards must come from the person performing the Rite. If you choose to end a Rulebook Rite before the required time there is no effect generated and the power is not spent.

Rulebook Rites produce the result specified in the rules. Plot Rites normally get an immediate result appropriate to the plot. Ad Hoc Rites normally get no immediate response, but can occasionally trigger later encounters or influence the power level of certain powerful entities.

Incantation basedLAY TO REST*RITE MAGICAL SPECIAL 1MIN

Requirements: Standard Incantation 2 or Light Incantation 2.

Actions: Role-play at least a 1-minute ceremony for the deceased and tear 2 Spell cards.

Effects: If cast on a recently deceased body (before Dawn of the day following their death) this effect immediately sends the pattern to the Plane of their Ancestor. Such a pattern cannot then be contacted using a Speak with dead effect, or be raised as Unliving. If begun within 1 minute of an unliving being Dismissed or Destroyed, the corrupted pattern is restored and goes to Plane of their Ancestor instead of returning to the Plane of Unlife. This is a second tier corpse effect, and will not work on a body that has a second tier corpse effect already applied to it.

RITE OF DEDICATIONRITE MAGICAL SPECIAL 1MIN

Requirements: Dark Incantation 2.

Actions: Role-play at least a 1-minute ceremony for the deceased and tear 2 Spell cards.

Effects: This effect claims the pattern of a recently deceased living or unliving being. The Rite must begin before Dawn of the day after the death/destruction of the target. Once the Rite is complete, the named Ancestor claims the pattern of the deceased. The pattern travels to the named Ancestor's Plane rather than that of its own Ancestor. A pattern that has been dedicated in this way may not be summoned in any way unless the Ancestor who has the pattern permits it, and may well be hostile to the Ancestor that has claimed it. This is a first tier corpse effect, and will not work on a body that has a first or second tier corpse effect already applied to it.

SPEAK WITH ANCESTORRITE MAGICAL SPECIAL 10MIN

Requirements: Incantation 3.

Actions: Role-play at least a 10-minute ceremony to a specific, named Ancestor and tear 4 Spell cards.

Effects: This allows you to ask a detailed question of the specified Ancestor. A Referee must be present to observe the Rite. The question may be anything, but the Ancestor will reply to it only if it sees fit, and from its point of view. The Ancestor's responses will not occur immediately and often will occur overnight. A Speak with Ancestor form may be collected from Game Control and filled out with details as required and countersigned by the Referee.

Necromancy basedCORRUPT BODY*RITE MAGICAL SPECIAL 1MIN

Requirements: Corruption 1.

Actions: Role-play at least a 1-minute ceremony over a dead body and tear 1 Spell Card.

Effects: Corrupts and rapidly decomposes a dead body so that the pattern is sent to the Plane of Unlife. The pattern does not go to its Ancestor. The body may rise as an uncontrolled zombie or skeleton at some future point, as dictated by the Head of Plot. This effect will leave a rotten, unrecognisable corpse behind. This is a first tier corpse effect, and will not work on a body that has a first or second tier corpse effect already applied to it.

GREATER CORRUPT BODYRITE MAGICAL SPECIAL 1MIN

Requirements: Corruption 3.

Actions: Role-play at least a 1-minute ceremony over a dead body and tear 4 Spell cards.

Effects: Corrupts and rapidly decomposes a dead body so that the pattern is sent to the Plane of Unlife. The pattern does not go to its Ancestor, and may rise as an uncontrolled wraith at some future point, as dictated by the Head of Plot. This effect will leave no corpse behind. This is a second tier corpse effect, and will not work on a body that has a second tier corpse effect already applied to it.

Spellcasting based

TRACE TRANSPORT

RITE MAGICAL SPECIAL 10SEC

Requirements: Level 1 Mage Craft.

Actions: Perform a 10 second rite in a recently used transport or ritual circle and tear 1 Spell Card.

Effects: Discerns the destination or originating circle of the last transport into or out of the transport or ritual circle. This trace must begin within 10 seconds of the transport being performed. Excess transportees being returned from a transport will not automatically disrupt the Trace rite.

TELEPORT

RITE MAGICAL SPECIAL 10SEC

Requirements: Level 3 Mage Craft.

Actions: Perform a rite for 10 seconds and tear 4 Spell cards.

Effects: Transports the caster only to the nearest active transport or ritual circle. The time taken to Teleport will be as long as it takes OOC to get to the destination circle and should not be unnecessarily prolonged to gain IC advantage. If the target location has a ritual seal in place, then the transporters arrive at the next nearest functional circle.

General

TRANSPORTATION

RITE MAGICAL SPECIAL 1MIN

Requirements: Ritual Magic, be in a ritual or transport circle.

Actions: Perform a rite for 1 minute whilst remaining in a ritual or transport circle and tear 1 Spell Card. You must state at the start of the Rite that you are using the circle for transportation and state the name of the destination circle clearly at the end of the Rite so that all participants in the circle can hear you.

Effects: Transports the Ritualist and up to 15 people, plus anything that they are carrying, in the circle to the named circle. Dead bodies can only be transported if carried (as per the rules for moving characters), but do not count against the limit of 15 people. Once a transport rite has begun no other transport rites will work from the circle until that rite is complete or abandoned. This does not affect incoming transports, which will appear normally and not disrupt the rite that is being performed. If the target location has a ritual seal in place, then the transporters arrive at the next nearest functional circle. Transportation Rites cannot take you off-Plane, or off Erdreja, as this requires a full ritual. Note that all circles including transport circles have a unique name and this must be stated as the destination.

Once the initial 1 minute of the Rite has completed, the transportation effect may be activated immediately by stating the name of the destination circle clearly to all participants and tearing the Spell Card. If this Rite is maintained for more than 2 minutes then it will fail.

If there are more than 16 people transporting (including the Ritualist) then all within the circle will initially transport (raise your hands in the air). The Ritualist can then choose the 15 people they wish to take, note that during this period no IC time passes and only the Ritualist may speak to nominate who will be transported. This choosing must be completed within 30 seconds and anyone not chosen after this time will be returned to the original circle. If there are less than 16 people in the circle then all are transported

Please report to Game Control on successful completion of the rite to verify that the circle you are transporting to exists and has no additional effects in place. Note that no time passes in character for the characters in the transport and any durational effects they are under will be suspended until they reappear but time will pass as normal for everyone outside the transport. The time taken to transport will be as long as it takes OOC to get to the destination circle and should not be unnecessarily prolonged to gain in character advantage.

If, and only if, the Ritualist does not have any power left they can still successfully transport but their Torso will be Destroyed by Artefact damage upon arrival.

Ritual Magic

RITUALS

Ritual magic can be used to create effects that are more powerful than normal magic can produce. Rituals can be used to enchant items, summon creatures from other Planes, create gates into other Planes, and grant special powers to characters and much, much more. A ritual is performed by a ritual group, made up of a Ritualist and contributors, in the confines of a ritual circle.

Any rituals that require an immediate effect, such as summoning a creature or creating an instant magical or plot effect, should be communicated to Watchers Council (Located within the Guilds) at the earliest opportunity and no less than one hour before the ritual.

The LT provides the opportunity for player characters to perform rituals during the main events. These rituals are performed with access to full lighting and sound facilities. Rarely, Rituals may also be performed at sanctioned events with prior consent of the event organisers and sanctioning officer. Note there will not always be a usable ritual circle available at a sanctioned event.

Further details on booking and performing rituals can be gained from the Watchers Council (Located within the Guilds)

RITUAL GROUPS

Ritual groups are formed from a Ritualist (a character with the Ritual Magic skill) and up to 15 contributors (a character with the Contribute to Ritual skill). A Ritualist must have at least fifteen points of ritual power available before they can perform a successful ritual. This power can come from the Ritualist's own skill, from contributors or from items (see Chapter 3, Section 1 – Special Items, Magic Items and Powers, page 51). If any member of a ritual group not actively precipitating in the ritual, it may have a detrimental effect on the rituals. If the Ritualist leaves the circle via the void gate or dies, the seal goes down and the ritual finishes immediately (and will be marked). Members of a ritual group may perform no more than one ritual per day unless they have a skill, lammie or loresheet that allows more. A ritual may only have one active Ritualist. This Ritualist is the central focus for the ritual power and is the lead member of the ritual group.

BOOKING TO PERFORM A RITUAL

A limited fixed number of ritual slots are available at Main Events. Having Ritual Magic does not guarantee that your character will have the opportunity to perform a ritual at an event. Without a booked ritual slot, you will not be able to perform a ritual. Rituals must be performed in the presence of official ritual markers. In the case of a sanctioned event then the Sanctioning Officer may stand in for the Ritual Markers.

PERFORMING A RITUAL

A successful ritual must be performed in a ritual circle; a ritual performed outside of a ritual circle will be classed as a rite (see Chapter 2, Section 5 – Rituals and Rites, Rites, page 45). A ritual group must have a minimum of fifteen points of power in order to attempt a ritual, below this number you will not be allowed to continue with your ritual. Should you attempt a ritual with less than 15 points or drop below 15 points during the ritual you will almost certainly lose control of the ritual and cause damage to both yourself and anyone present in the circle

A ritual should be between about 10-13 minutes long, being outside of this will cause a ritual to fail far more readily. Ritual circles reach full power at about 5 minutes, before this time, the ritual can be stopped without causing any serious harm.

All members of the ritual group must be present at the start of the ritual and remain within the circle for the majority of the performance. During the performance, contributors may have cause to enter the void gate. While in the void, the contributors' link to the ritual is fragile. Should they remain outside of the circle for longer than 3 minutes their link with the ritual will be severed (deducting their power from the total power of the ritual) and the character will be subject to the ravages of the Void (as determined by the Ritual Markers or a Referee).

It is recognised as part of a ritual that some players may be required to play roles that appear from the void gate in a similar way to monsterring. Such roles are considered to be a non-contributor role and do not count to the total power of the ritual.

RITUAL CONTENT

Please remember that LT main events are family events; therefore keep rituals in good taste. Rude, vulgar, graphically horrific and OOC offensive rituals will be stopped by the LT for OOC reasons. Players performing such rituals may be banned from LT events.

RITUAL MARKING -

Two Ritual Markers mark each Ritual. The Ritual Markers arrive at a score. This decision is final. Rituals are marked on two main categories: relevance and entertainment. A total of 5 points are assigned to each category, giving a total possible mark of 10 points.

The relevance value is a reflection of how the main action within the ritual portrays the nature and intent of the ritual and explains how the outcome is to be achieved (including the way that the performance and vocals fit with what is wanted). It is therefore a good idea to explain within the ritual; the powers desired the method involved to produce it and to portray the method outlined. Relevancy can be compromised if the content of the ritual is not in keeping with the game.

The entertainment value is a reflection of the performance and drama of the main action of the ritual. Drama is more than just a script; it also involves acting, active participation, props, costume, lighting, sound effects, music and special effects. Entertainment can be compromised by poor use of special effects, little participation by Contributors or continually repeating previous rituals.

The marks achieved in both categories are applied as weighting to the ritual power of the ritual. This determines how successful the ritual is and its overall effectiveness. Thus, the emphasis is on performing good rituals. A ritual's score and power are not the only factors in determining a ritual's effectiveness. Running under or over time can result in loss of scores and loss of power, exceptionally low scores or loss of power can lead to the Ritualist losing control and causing damage to themselves and/or their ritual group.

This section details the current process at the time of publication, this may be subject to change as the game world evolves. Please speak with the Watchers Council (Located within the Guilds) for more information.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Ritualists wishing to enquire about the procedure for booking rituals or obtain more information on performing rituals or ritual marking should ask at the Watchers Council (Located within the Guilds) for more information. They will be able to arrange for one of the ritual marking team to answer your questions. OOC ritual or rite questions on issues regarding lammies and what effects are compatible with the Erdrejan game world can be raised at Game Control.

IMPORTANT NOTE ON SPECIAL EFFECTS

Special effects are used at all main LT events, particularly in and around the area of the ritual circle. Some effects used, such as strobe lighting, UV lighting and smoke machines, can be hazardous if you suffer from a medical condition, which may be affected by special effects of any sort. Please be careful when moving around any area where special effects may be used. If you wish to participate in a ritual, but are concerned you may be affected by the special effects, please check with the ritual circle technical crew or ritual marker before the ritual begins. They will be able to tell you which special effects will be used in the ritual.

RITUAL CIRCLES

Rituals are carried out within a ritual circle. This is a place of power where the barrier between the world and the void is greatly weakened or broken. The flow of raw and uncontrolled magic that comes through these areas is blocked by the shielding effect of the ritual circle. This shielding normally fills the gap or weak area in the barrier and prevents the void from flowing through, which would have terrible consequences for anything or anyone in the area. When a ritualist begins a ritual, they seal the circle. This creates a magical ward from the circle up to the shield high overhead and then opens the shield, leaving the circle vulnerable to the void. This funnels the power of the void down into the circle and prevents those outside of the sealed area from coming to any harm. Ritualists must then focus this power as they and their contributors draw it into themselves. Unsealing the circle restores the overhead barrier and then opens the sides of the circle. The order in which a circle seals or unseals cannot be changed. A ritual circle will always seal its sides before opening the shield that protects it from the void and will always replace the protecting shield before it unseals its sides. Other than characters with an ability that explicitly allows them to raise/lower the seal of either all Ritual Circles or the Ritual Circle in question, the only person who can unseal a Ritual Circle is the person who sealed it.

RITUAL CIRCLE SEALS

The seals around a Ritual Circle are powerful, magical transparent barriers that block all effects. Nothing may pass through a Ritual Circle Seal except sound and light. Ritual Circle Seals are more powerful than Ritual Magic. A Ritual of Peace will cover a Ritual Circle, even if the Seals are raised. A Seal will stop anything that does not have a lammie or loresheet that specifically states it can pass through a Ritual Circle Seal.

Participation within the Ritual Circle is an IC Hazardous action to undertake.

The magic in Erdreja ebbs and flows, waxes and wanes with each passing hour. As such, ritual results may vary between individual rituals and very few rituals will offer the same result. It is possible and as has been seen entirely like that interaction with a ritual circle

Time Waits For None

While we appreciate that actions in the field mean people may have difficulty arriving on time for their ritual slot, we are unable to hold the space and time indefinitely. In practical terms the maximum time we will be able to wait is 15 minutes. This may be exceeded if the circle is affected by plot effects. Please speak to the ritual marking ref on duty if you feel you need to query this situation. Each situation will be looked in to separately, please have patience with those on duty.

Chapter Three: Character Logistics

Section One: Special Items

Spell effects generated by special items do not suffer from armour restrictions or effects that interrupt concentration, and if on a weapon they target the location struck. Spell effects that directly cause damage cannot be applied to weapons as lammie properties, e.g. Enchanted Blast. Spell effects that cause damage that are duplicated as a specific Damage Effect use the Damage Effect, rather than the spell effect, e.g. Enchanted Cause Fatal cannot be used, but Enchanted Fatal can. Items that allow the user to generate spell effects follow normal restriction and concentration rules. Some combinations of effects cannot be combined for game mechanics reasons.

Magic Items and Powers

LAMINATED CARDS

A lammie is a laminated card detailing special item powers, character special powers or special creature abilities. The text on a Lammie should be considered Rules and part of the game. All LT lammies remain property of the Lorien Trust and may be withdrawn at any time. Lammies are only valid between their Issue date and their Duration condition (which may be a date, or 'Until Dismissed', 'Until Death' etc), and must be stamped with LT authorisation stamps. Sanctioned events may use a different style of event only lammies that are valid for that event only.

There are a number of standard terms that may appear on lammies; definitions and rules for some of these terms are detailed in Appendix 4.

Lammies are invalid if damaged or if new powers have been written on top. In these cases, please take your lammie to Game Control for possible re-issue. Lammies are effective even if not visible although they must always be easily accessible should a Marshal or Referee ask to see them. During time-out, it is your responsibility to secure your lammie. You must make sure that your lammie is registered to you at Game Control by the end of the event you acquired it, or within 1 hour if you have stolen it IC and it is attached to someone else's phys rep (see Chapter 3, Section 2, In-Character Theft, page 56). If you do not have a suitable, safe phys-rep, you will not be allowed to use your item. (See Appendix 2 – Weapons Guidelines, page 65).

POWER RATING

All Lammies, Talismans, Blessings etc have a Power Rating associated with them. If not stated on the front of the card, the power ratings of Special Items/Powers/Creatures/Weapons/Liquids are invalid if they do not have an explicit power rating.

If the sum of the Power Rating of all Lammies, Talismans, Blessings etc you are carrying exceeds 12 then all items with a Power Rating greater than 0 that you carry will stop working immediately, (except for Special creatures, powers or talismanic auras. In addition rare items such as Artefacts and Iconic items are also immune to this destruction, and will not stop working.) If you exceed 13 points of power then your magical items (those items with a Power Rating greater than 0) will be Destroyed. First all potions and sigil effects (these all heat up and are destroyed together), then proceeding through each item starting at the one with the lowest Power Rating. Each item will become hot for 10 seconds prior to its destruction. This does not affect Artefacts. If your Power Rating exceeds 14 points after all magical items on you have been Destroyed, then your torso will be Destroyed by Artefact damage. You may not sneak additional magic items onto another character without there being a ref present and aware of your intentions.

Occasionally, a character itself may possess a Power Rating of its own. This will be assumed as 0 for all characters. Any increase, or decrease, will be shown on the rear of the character card.

MAGICALLY ACTIVE ITEMS

Any lammie with a Power Rating greater than 0 is considered magical.

If the sum of the Power Ratings of all the lammies you are carrying exceeds 0 then you Detect as magically active.

If the Power Rating of any lammie is more than 0 then it Detects as magical and may be identified as such by the use of the Sense Magic or similar skill.

RESTRICTIONS ON LAMMIES

No character can have more than 1 special creature lammie.

No character can have more than 1 special power lammie.

No item may have more than 1 special item and 1 special item power lammie.

LAMMIE HIERARCHY

If a loresheet conflicts with a lammie or spell, the loresheet takes precedence. In the case of a conflict between Lammie effects, (E.g. A Special Power that allows the user to strike for Flame combined with a Special Weapon that strikes for Cold) the Lammie with the higher Power Rating takes precedence. If the Power Rating of the lammies is the same, then the following Hierarchy is used:

Hierarchy Flow

Most powerful → → → → → → → → Least powerful
 Special Weapon → Spell → Special Item → Special Power → Special Creature

Other ItemsLIMITED USE ITEMS

When the powers of a special liquid or special item are not apparent until it is used, a rip-open lammie will be produced. When such an item is used, tear off the exposed paper tab and then rip the lammie open; any effects will be detailed inside. It is necessary to note the date and time of use on the removable insert and retain the lammie until all effects have expired.

When the powers of a special item with a limited use are apparent to all, then there may be a tear-off strip, with the words "tear on use". When torn, the item will have the effects detailed. Once the effects have been resolved, the item is no longer active.

SCROLLS

Scrolls do not have lammies attached to them but will have an expiry date and an official LT authorisation stamp on them. Scrolls must be torn in half when used. Any character with invocation can use scrolls. If the effect on the scroll has a duration, the time and date of activation must be marked on the scroll upon use, which then must then be torn in half once the duration has expired. The magical effect contained within the scroll takes effect exactly as its description says and treats the character that invoked the scroll as the caster in all cases; all restrictions as to the target remain and must be obeyed. All uncast scrolls have a power rating of 0 while being carried (unless they say otherwise). However some powerful scrolls create a Sigil effect when cast. As such they should then be counted as an active Sigil. It will indicate on the scroll if this is the case.

Potions & PoisonsRIP OPEN LAMMIES

Potion and poisons have Lammies that must be ripped open and the time and date of use (if it has a duration) written on it when the potion or poison is consumed. If a potion or poison lammie has been ripped open then it is considered used. If a ripped open potion or poison lammie does not have the time and date written on it then it is considered wasted and void. All potion and poison lammies must be attached to appropriate phys-reps. A player should NEVER consume the contents of the phys-reps. You must not write the effect of the potion or poison on the exterior of the lammie either in full or in some shorthand reference. Any lammies found to be so marked by a Referee or Marshal will be considered IC spoiled and will not have IC effects. The lammies will be confiscated and returned to Game Control/LT. You can mark the IC container.

Some Special Liquids/ Alchemical Preparations (potions/poisons/oils) may have a power rating above 0. This will be indicated on the front of the Lammie. When consumed or upon use, it will have the power rating indicated on the inside of the Lammie. Please note, all Special Liquids with a power rating above 0 count as an "Active Sigil" for determining if it or its effect stops working, or is destroyed earlier than its normal expiry.

Poison Types and classes

There are two types of poison: Alchemical and Magical. The effects Purge Poison and Purge All Poisons are only effective on Alchemical Poisons, and will only be effective on non-lethal poisons if they are purged before they deliver their effect. Magical poisons each have their own unique cures.

All poisons will be spoiled if they are not used within 30 minutes of opening them. Poisons cannot be mixed, and applying two separate poisons to the same item will cause both to be spoiled. Spoiled poisons have no effect. Any person attempting to use or apply poisons without a poison-handling skill (i.e. a skill that grants them a loresheet that identifies that liquid as a poison) has a high chance of poisoning himself or herself, and the attempt requires a Referee.

There are four classes of poison, and a further distinction is made between Lethal and non-Lethal poisons:

- Venom - Poisons that must be delivered by weapon blow to an unarmoured location or by using the Through effect. Venom poisons need to penetrate armour to work and will be spoiled if they hit a location with an AV above zero. Always Lethal. This poison can be applied to a weapon or projectile and a minimum of 3 seconds of role-played effort.
 - Using a lethal poison requires a referee; The actual time taken to apply the poison is as long as it takes the referee to rip open and read the lammie, and to check your cards to ensure you have the correct skills.
- Ingestive - Poisons that will inflict their effect on the first person to consume any morsel of food or drink from the poisoned item. All poisoned phys-reps must be OOC safe to consume. Generally Lethal.
- Vapour - These are Mass effects, and will effect everyone within a 10ft (~3m) range as per the rules for mass effects, they may only be called by a referee. If placed within a magically sealed area they may expand to fill this area at a referee's discretion. Often Lethal.
- Weapon Oil – Alchemical treatments that modify the damage effect or damage type on a single weapon for the next successful strike. Parries will not cause the oil to be used. Weapon oils are generally not magical, though they often produce magical effects, and can only modify the damage type of Normal weapons. Rarely Lethal. This poison can be applied to a weapon or projectile and a minimum of 3 seconds of role-played effort.
 - Weapon oils can be applied without requiring a referee and takes as long as it takes you to rip open and read the lammie (subject to the 3 second minimum); if you discover upon opening it that what you believed to be a weapon oil is actually a lethal venom then you must either immediately
 - inform a referee (before using it) or
 - discard the poison as spoiled.

All Lethal poisons always have an onset time followed by a debilitation time and their use requires a Referee to be present. At the end of the debilitation time, the target dies unless the poison has been purged. At no point does a Lethal Poison cause its target to enter their Grace period.

Non-Lethal poisons generally have an instant effect. Some have an onset and/or debilitation time, and their use requires a Referee to be present. At the end of the debilitation time, the poison delivers its effect unless the poison has been purged.

All non-Lethal poison effects work exactly as their respective spell effects, and general immunity to poisons will not help resist their effects. E.g., Paralysis weapon oil will paralyse the target unless they are immune to paralysis, even if they are immune to poisons.

- During the onset time, the target will feel no effects from the poison, though the poison will still be detectable by normal means.
During the debilitation time, the target is Debilitated.

Identifying a Poison requires concentration, as does applying a poison to a weapon or projectile. Once applied it does not require concentration to carry, wield, or shoot the poisoned weapon/projectile – although it does still require an appropriate skill in order to avoid either spoiling the poison or affecting yourself with it.

- Alchemy liquid physreps should be appropriate for the purpose, this means the physrep must be a bottle, flask, vial, tube or something that could feasibly contain the special liquid. The physrep bottle or container should be safe for game purposes, strong or thick glass, plastic or even ceramic containers are recommended.
- Lammies (when used in game areas and in time-in) must be attached to an appropriate physrep at all times, if a lammie is presented without an appropriate physrep attached it is not valid. The bottle or container may be filled with liquid, painted to look filled or remain empty (although this has no in-game advantage or disadvantage).
- Bottles or containers may be labelled in-character with any details you like (correct or fake - it is up to you!). Labels may not be used to copy information from the lammie (such as Lorecodes).

Section Two: General Logistics

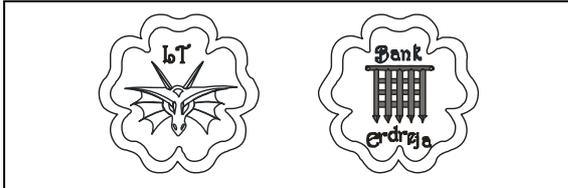

Money

There are four types of game tokens in use in the Lorien Trust Role-Playing system, of which the lowest denomination is the Quarter, or copper. Four Quarters make one Stell, or silver, and four Stell make one Gold. Four Gold make one Taal. Copper, Silver, Gold are small. Taal is Large.

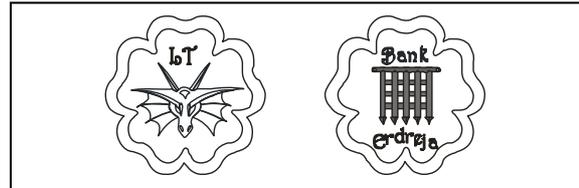

All players at LT main events are given an amount of In Game Tokens each year, dependant on which events they attend and any income skills they possess. Additional In Game Tokens may be offered as a reward.

LT coinage looks like this:

Small In Game Tokens have a diameter of Approx. 28mm

Large In Game Tokens have a diameter of Approx. 35mm

GAME TOKEN FORGERY

The shape and design of all LT I game tokens are OOC trademarks of Merlinroute Ltd. No part of these designs may be reproduced by any means, save with the written permission of Merlinroute Ltd. Any person performing any unauthorised act in relation to these designs may be liable to prosecution and claims for damages. Game Tokens remain the property of Merlinroute Ltd, and as such cannot be sold or traded OOC. Any person doing so is liable to receive a ban from all Lorien Trust events

Loresheets

There are two types of loresheet; one is used in relation to certain skills and the other to explain fully a lammie (usually in reference to a special creature). In both of these cases, the loresheet is considered an extension of LT rules. All loresheets must have the name of the Character that they refer to written on them (in permanent ink). Some CS and some OS require a loresheet (see Appendix one - Character Creation, page 58). If you have purchased any of these skills, you must go to Game Control and collect a loresheet for each of these Skills in order to use them. At Sanctioned Events, you may be able to collect loresheets from the Sanctioning Officer. You cannot use skills or lammies requiring a loresheet unless you have the loresheet with you.

Some loresheets have lists of lore codes printed on them that correspond to the lore codes printed on special item cards.

Any lammie that refers to a loresheet requires that both the relevant loresheet and lammie be carried at all times, otherwise the entire lammie is invalid and may not be used. If a loresheet states that phys-reps are needed, e.g. "Mask and claws phys-reps required", then the character that the loresheet is applicable to cannot be played if these phys-reps are not carried. loresheets must not be shown to other players. loresheets are reissued every year, with the validity of the new loresheet commencing with the first LT main event of the year – from that point all previous loresheets are invalid and must not be used. A loresheet that is not clearly marked with the year/dates of its validity is not valid.

All loresheets are the property of the Lorien Trust. These may be removed from an individual character, or removed from play at any time.

No effect

'NO CARD - NO EFFECT'

To do anything not covered by the rules, you must have a valid and authorised LT lammie. Any Special item Lammies you intend to use must be carried with you at all times whilst IC. Characters with Special Powers or Special Creature cards may not be played unless the relevant lammie is also carried as well as the character card. Lammies that are attached to a weapon intended for use in any form of combat must be placed so that there is no risk of OOC damage to either the user of the weapon or their opponents.

'NO REF - NO EFFECT'

Under specific circumstances, an on-duty Referee or Marshal may stand in the place of a lammie, loresheet or power cards.

'NO PHYS-REP - NO EFFECT'

A special item lammie cannot be used unless it is attached to an appropriate phys-rep. The phys-rep must bear a reasonable resemblance to the item it is supposed to represent (for example a mace cannot be used as a phys-rep for an enchanted sword). Item Phys-reps must comply with all LT regulations and safety standards. If you do not have a suitable safe phys-rep, you will not be allowed to use your lammie (see Appendix 2 – Weapons Guidelines, page 65).

The Rule of Double

This rule applies to LHV, AV and Spell Cards. All of these values are limited to a maximum of double their base value no matter what means are used to increase them. A lammie, loresheet, OS, ritual effect or cast magic can all be used to increase these values but nothing can increase any value to more than double its starting amount. Anything bought with Character Points counts as the base value. Where a character has several Base values, only the highest value will have an effect.

In-Character Searching

A thorough IC search of another character requires 1 minute of Concentration. When searching a character the searcher must hold their primary hand (or off hand if they have the basic CS Ambidexterity 2" (~5cm) above the character being searched. Players found breaking the searching rules may be asked to leave site.

During the search, the searcher must tell the target that they are performing an IC search. The searcher must also say if they are using any skill/ability that allows them to find concealed items. Items may only be considered concealed for these rules if the target has an OS that allows them to conceal items. At no time may the searcher make any physical contact with the person being searched.

All players using these searching rules (whether to search or be searched) must be fair and honest when looking for or revealing items. Please also try to avoid keeping IC and OOC items together.

In-Character Theft

Nothing may be stolen during Time-out, or from OOC areas.

Only items with valid lammies, documents marked as IC, and IC coins may be stolen IC. Theft of other items will be treated as OOC theft and may lead to you being asked to leave site.

Any visible item that is clearly in one of these categories can be stolen subject to the following limitations:

- Nothing may be taken from a character without the players OOC co-operation. If you do so, you may be asked to leave site.
- Nothing may be taken from an un-lammied Bag, chest or container. No IC items may be stored in a container of any kind unless the container is visibly lammied, or carried on a character's person.
- Unconscious and Immobilised characters must co-operate with a character attempting to steal items, may not resist having a visible item stolen, and must OOC hand the item to anyone wishing to steal it. The character taking the item should not touch the target directly. The thief should inform the target OOC that they are removing the item, at which point the item must be handed over OOC.
- Any item that is completely hidden does not have to have a lammie on display, and can only be stolen if discovered by the Searching rules above.

When an item has been stolen IC, it must be taken to Game Control as soon as possible (and definitely within 1 hour), in order to register the change of ownership.

By attaching a lammie to an item, you are giving OOC consent to have it stolen under the searching and stealing rules. You should be especially careful with attaching lammies to clothing and armour to ensure you have adequate clothing underneath in case they are stolen from you.

If possible, get a Referee or Marshal to accompany you when you are attempting to steal an item as this can help prevent disputes arising.

If you have stolen an item IC, you must not remove any lammie from the item yourself. The staff at Game Control will remove the item card and register you as the new owner of that item. They will then put the lammie on a suitable phys-rep that belongs to you (bring a suitable phys-rep with you to register change of ownership). If necessary, Game Control will retain the old phys-rep for collection by the original owner. An item powers card does not signify ownership of an item, nor does possession of any special item card that is damaged, or is not attached to a suitable phys-rep. Any Special Creature or Special Powers cards represent abilities innate to that character and cannot be stolen.

Moving Characters

Do not move players physically. A conscious character cannot be moved against their will.

To move an unconscious character without touching them, stand by their side and place both hands within 2" (~5cm) of their shoulder and 2" (~5cm) of their upper arm. This system does not allow for grappling and anyone found doing so risks being asked to leave site.

One person may move a character (or monster) at a slow walking pace. Two people may move a character (or monster) at a normal walking pace. No more than two people may move a single character at a time.

Moving someone requires the use of two free hands, which may not be used for anything else. At no time is it necessary for the unconscious person to be touched by those moving them.

Faction Wards

The method used for maintaining the IC protection and boundaries of faction camps, particularly at main LT events, is to use a magical ward around the camp perimeter. This is represented by a line of rope around each camp.

You can see and hear through the ward. No spell or spell-like effects or abilities may pass through them or span them, but this does not prevent the Teleport spell effect. Projectiles or weapons may not pass through or over wards.

Any character skill, lammie or ability that states that it allows you to traverse magical wards can be used to pass the Ward. This takes 10 seconds of concentration during which time you should not straddle the line of rope, but role-play pushing through the ward. Whilst crossing the ward you cannot interact with anyone or anything on either side of the barrier but you may be struck or affected by anyone from either side. You may not pause whilst crossing even if unconscious or Immobilised, although you may reverse direction, taking the same time to exit as you had already spent entering. Reversing is a conscious decision requiring effort and cannot be achieved while unconscious or Immobilised, however if you do become unconscious or Immobilised while performing this action, then you will be forced back through by the ward in the direction you came from. Faction Wards cannot be tunnelled underneath.

Wards count as a ritual level effect and any non-standard method of bypassing them must be approved by Management. Non-standard methods will always take a minimum of 10 seconds.

Faction Gates

Faction gates are constructed from a variety of materials and are vulnerable to damage. They can be forced open IC by taking damage and this will require a Referee to be present. As a general guide, it may take several minutes of normal blows, or a minute or two of crushes, but this may vary at the discretion of the Referee based upon the construction of the gate.

All faction gates must be constructed in a safe manner and will be inspected by a member of the Lorien Trust safety team. Guidelines on safe construction can be requested from Game Control at main LT events or the event organiser at a Sanctioned event, which will be subject to change.

Claws

There are two types of claws, weapon claws and natural claws. Weapon claws must look artificial.

Wearing and using natural claws requires a relevant lammie, loresheet or OS.

Claws cannot be used to parry. To use claws you must have passed the Claw Competency test.

Weapons claws count in all ways as a small weapon and are considered IC to be artificial weapon claws strapped to your hands. Hands with weapons claws cannot be used to perform any other action and to use a weapons claw in your off hand requires the CS Ambidexterity.

All weapon and natural claws inflict normal damage unless a lammie, loresheet or OS says otherwise.

(See Appendix 2 - Weapon Guidelines, Claws, page 65 onward)

Patterns

All characters, unless they have a lammie, loresheet or OS that says otherwise, have a Living Pattern. Other types of pattern have loresheets detailing the specific rules covering them.

APPENDIX 1: Character Creation

Character Concept

The fantasy/medieval world of Erdreja has been created to accommodate a wide variety of characters within its campaign. Use the following procedure to create your character.

CHOOSE A CONCEPT

You may already have an idea of the type of character you would like to play. This will be your basic guide to creating your character within the Lorien Trust Role-Playing system. If you do not have a basic idea for a character, think of a favourite story or film character you may wish to base your character upon. You may be playing this character for a long time to come, so you do not want to be stuck playing something you do not enjoy. Remember as well, that most LT events last for a considerable period - up to three or four days, with only limited OOC time. You should come up with a concept that you are comfortable with role-playing for this amount of time. You should avoid directly copying fictional characters and try to create a character that is unique in some way. For example you should avoid playing Legolas, but Legolas could be the inspiration for a more personalised and unique Elven archer.

CHOOSE A CHARACTER NAME

Choose a name for your character. This can be as simple or as complex as you want it to be. Try to avoid putting titles like Lord or Baron in the name; such titles are earned, not assumed and titled characters tend to take exception to a simple peasant calling himself Lord something. Do not give yourself too long a name; otherwise, it may not fit on your character card! Character names should not be insulting in nature.

CHOOSE YOUR CHARACTER RACE

Numerous fantasy races exist within Erdreja. Many are widespread, but others remain all but unknown. For purposes of simplification, we have grouped all the known races together into the racial groups listed below. Each race belongs to a category, and you count as a member of the category of the racial group you are in. For the purpose of effects that target specific groups, you will be affected by damage that targets either your racial group or your category, e.g. if you are an Elf you will take both Elf Bane and Elder Race Bane. Select a racial group from those listed, for more details see the Lorien Trust World Guide.

Category	Racial Group	Example individual races
Existential	Human *	Caledonian, Norscan, Teutonian
	Beast	Bear, Wolf, Sheep, Cow
	Plant	Shambling Mound, Oak Tree
	Mineral	Golem, Clockwork man, Gargoyle
Elder Races	Dwarf	Dark Dwarf, Duegear
	Elf	Sea Elf, Wood Elf, Sylvan
	Fey	Fairy, True Fey, Seelie, Gelf
	Olog	Ogre, Troll, Trollkin
Younger Races	Beastkin	Beastman, Catkin, Bugbear, Wolfkin
	Drow	Drow, Dark Elf, Norn
	Halfling	Kender, Hobbit, Wee Folk
	Uruk	Goblin, Hobgoblin, Orc, Blackorc
Planar	Ancestral	Spirit, Daeva, Archon, Avatar
	Daemon	Imps, Demonkin, Overlord
	Elemental	Zephyr, Servitor, Ifrit, Djinn
	Umbral	Voidkin, Half-Fiend, Half-construct

 Not a playable race without a supporting lammie
 * Default race if none other are chosen

Please note that no race has any form of special power innately. If you wish to play a special creature of some sort then you should choose your initial race and seek out how to unlock your true nature in game. If you wish to play a half-breed, you should decide which side of your nature is dominant, and pick that race. No racial type has a minimum physical representation requirement. Characters do not have a gender. This lack of gender (or roleplayed presence of gender) makes no difference within the game rules.

CHOOSE YOUR FACTION

Select a faction from those listed on the booking form, for more details see the LT website or ask at Game Control.

CHOOSE YOUR CHARACTER'S SKILLS

Use the list of Character Skills (CS) below to choose the abilities that your character will begin the game with. You should read the descriptions of all the skills carefully before deciding which skills to buy. Your character has 16 Points to spend on skills. With the exception of Power and Ritual Magic, you cannot buy the same CS more than once.

CHILDREN AND CHARACTER SKILLS

All weapons and shields must be easily wieldable by the child and must be no taller than them.

- Children aged under 5 years can only buy free skills.
- Children aged 5-9yrs may buy 10pts of skills from the following list:
Free skills, Shield Use, Light Armour Use, Body Development, Ambidexterity, Healing, Bind Wounds and Physician.
- Children aged 10-13yrs may buy skills as per adults, except for Ritual Magic and Projectile Weapon.
- Anyone aged 14 or above may choose skills as normal.

All children are Immune to Charm and Command effects until Dawn on their 16th Birthday. There are no exceptions to this rule.

Character Skills

Weapon Skills	Cost	Armour Skills	Cost
Ambidexterity	2	Body Development 1/2	4/8
Large Weapon Use	2	Light Armour Use	2
Projectile Weapon	4	Medium Armour Use	3
Shield Use	2	Heavy Armour Use	4
Missile Weapon Use	1
Magic Skills	Cost	Knowledge skills	Cost
Healing 1/2	4/8	Potion Lore	3
Incantation 1/2	4/8	Poison Lore	4
Spellcasting 1/2	4/8	Cartography	1
Ritual Magic 1/2/3	2/4/6	Sense Magic	1
Contribute	1	Evaluate	1
Power 1/2/3/4	2/4/6/8	Recognise Forgery	1
Invocation	3	Physician	2
		Bind Wounds	1

No character may have more than 16 Character points. Any character with more than 16 Character points should contact the office.

Your fundamental character details, such as your character name, group, faction, your name, your unique player ID alongside your chosen Character Skills and purchased Occupational Skills. The character card also displays the year of printing and the version number. Character cards printed from previous years are not valid for the current year and therefore not valid in play. If a person has no valid character card, they may take no In Character Action.

Free Skills

These skills are assumed to be known to all characters and will not appear on your character card.

NUMERACY (0 POINTS)

You can count and perform simple arithmetic.

LITERACY (0 POINTS)

Your character can read and write in the common tongue (English).

READ MAPS (0 POINTS)

Your character can read simple maps and perform simple feats of navigation.

SMALL MELEE WEAPON USE (0 POINTS)

Your character can use a small melee weapon of 7" - 18" (~18cm - ~45cm) in overall length in your primary hand in melee combat.

MEDIUM MELEE WEAPON USE (0 POINTS)

Your character can use a medium melee weapon of 18" - 42" (~45cm - ~107cm) in overall length in your primary hand in melee combat.

Weapon Skills

Please note, all weapons no matter what their size, inflict a single point of normal damage unless an effect, lammie or loresheet states otherwise.

AMBIDEXTERITY (2 POINTS)

With this skill, you can wield weapons or cast spells with your off-hand as well as with your primary hand. This does not mean that your off-hand counts as your primary hand for any effect or skill that states that only the primary hand may be used. All characters have a primary hand and an off-hand. Please note that to use this skill you must also have the basic CS you intend to use with your off-hand. Ambidexterity does not allow you to perform two actions, which require Concentration simultaneously.

LARGE MELEE WEAPON USE (2 POINTS)

Your character can use a large melee weapon of 43" - 72" (~109cm - ~180cm) in overall length in two hands in melee combat. You may also use a weapon of pole-arm design of 43"- 84" (~110cm - ~210cm) overall length. Large melee weapons cannot be used one handed. Great swords, staves and pole-arms are typical examples of such weapons.

PROJECTILE WEAPON USE (4 POINTS)

Your character can use a bow, crossbow, or sling to launch projectiles. You may not operate a projectile weapon and wield a melee weapon simultaneously. Projectile weapons can be divided into two categories:

1. Arrows or bolts launched from a bow or crossbow inflict one point of Normal Through damage on a successful hit (see the Damage Effect Through for details.)
2. Rocks launched from a sling inflict one point of Normal damage on a successful hit. This ammunition must comply with the same usability standard as all thrown objects.

To use this skill you must have passed the LT Bow Competency test. Projectile weapons must not be used as hand-to-hand (melee) combat weapons.

SHIELD USE (2 POINTS)

Your character may use a shield for defence only, using your off hand (or if you have Ambidexterity, with either hand). When using a shield you may not employ the hand holding the shield for any other purpose. Shields struck while being used in this way protect the user from all damage and effects from weapons, with the exception of Crush or Shatter. A shield that takes a Crush or Shatter effect will stop the blow, but in the process be Destroyed. A Destroyed shield takes 1 minute of suitable role-play to repair, performed by anyone with the Shield Use skill. Only one person can work on or repair a shield at a time. Mithril shields are Immune to Shatter effects and Normal Crush, Enchanted shields are Immune to Shatter effects, Normal Crush and Enchanted Crush. All shields are affected by Artefact Crush. Shields must not be used as weapons. A slung shield or one worn on your back offers no protection.

MISSILE WEAPON USE (1 POINT)

Your character has the ability to throw a single missile (e.g. a rock or knife) in combat using your primary hand. Please note that thrown objects need to be made to comply with the usability standard for thrown objects and cannot be used as melee weapons (see Appendix 2: Weapon Guidelines, page 65). Weapons intended for use in hand-to-hand (melee) combat must not be thrown.

Armour Skills

With these skills, your character can wear armour and gain protection from wearing it. Armour worn as costume, without the appropriate skill, offers no protection to your character but still restricts casting spells as normal. All armour has a value (Armour Value, or AV), expressed as a number of points (see Chapter 2, Section 1 – Combat, page 15). (See also Appendix 4, Stacking Armour, page 59) Armour must be worn to have any effect (carrying your armour over your shoulder gives your character no protection), but does not have to be visible (i.e. chain mail can be worn under a robe or a tabard).

To repair armour damaged in combat requires an Armour Use skill and a character with such a skill may repair any armour that they have the skill to wear. It takes one minute of concentration to restore the value of the armour on a single location by one point; the repair being performed using the primary hand (or off hand if they have the CS ambidexterity). Armour may be repaired whilst it is being worn and the wearer can repair any location of their armour they can reach. Only one person can work on each location, but several people can repair different locations at the same time. It is not possible to wield a weapon whilst repairing armour. A character with the appropriate Armour Use skill can repair any type of armour be it normal or magical.

A good phys-rep of the armour is required, and this armour will be checked at the same time as your weapons (see Appendix 2 - Weapon Guidelines, page 79). If armour is to have an AV, the phys-rep must cover a minimum of 50% of the protected location. Unconvincing phys-reps cannot count as heavy armour. Large bulky costume may count for light or medium armour if sufficiently thick and heavy (Leather hide or phys-rep lizard skin for light armour, bulkier phys-reps for medium armour).

LIGHT ARMOUR USE (2 POINTS)

Light Armour has an AV of 1. Light Armour is any flexible material that is either thick enough or tough enough to resist a blow. Thin leather, heavily quilted or padded material and skinned furs are examples of Light Armour. With this skill, you gain the ability to wear and repair Light Armour.

MEDIUM ARMOUR USE (3 POINTS)

Medium armour has an AV of 2. Medium armour is either semi-rigid material or material that would normally be light armour with rigid supports or rigid additions over at least 50% of the surface. Thick leather and plated leather are examples of medium armour. With this skill, you gain the ability to wear and repair light or medium armour. A character wearing Medium Armour cannot cast Ranged effects.

HEAVY ARMOUR USE (4 POINTS)

Heavy armour has an AV of 3. Heavy armour is either completely rigid, made 100% from metal (or a convincing representation of metal) or light armour with rigid material covering at least 90% of the surface. Chain or plate mail and cuirboilli are examples of heavy armour. With this skill, you gain the ability to repair and wear light, medium or heavy armour. A character wearing Heavy Armour cannot cast Ranged or Mass effects.

BODY DEVELOPMENT 1 (4 POINTS)

Characters with this skill have 2 Base LHV (See Chapter 2, Section 1 - Combat, Body Locations, page 15). Body Development 2 cannot be combined with Body Development 1.

BODY DEVELOPMENT 2 (8 POINTS)

Characters with this skill have 3 Base LHV. (See Chapter 2, Section 1 - Combat, Body Locations, page 15). Body Development 2 cannot be combined with Body Development 1.

Magic Skills

All these skills require Concentration to use. Taking a level 1 and level 2 list of the same type is not possible and gives no advantage.

In addition to the basic spell lists, there are four Specialisations and four Summoning spell lists. All of these spell lists require an OS, Lammie or loresheet to use but work in a similar way.

Specialisations - To gain access to a Specialisation list you must buy the basic magic skill it is based on. The Specialisation list then replaces the basic magic list, and is still limited by the level of Basic magic bought with character points. Light and Dark incantations are Specialisations of the Incantation list. Shadow magic and Enchanting are Specialisations of the Spellcasting list.

Summoning - To gain access to the Summoning list, you must buy one of the basic magic skills it (or any applicable Specialisation) is based on and Ritual Magic; the Summoning list then adds to your basic list. Necromancy requires Corruption, Shadow magic or Dark Incantation. Elementalism requires Healing, Light Incantation or Enchanting. Theology requires Incantation (of any sort) and Daemonology requires Mage Craft (of any sort).

Corruption is a Basic list with a pre-requisite. You must buy Healing and the OS Corruptor, and the Corruption list then replaces the Healing list. Note Corruption is not based on Healing - but they are mutually exclusive.

SPELLCASTING, INCANTATION OR HEALING 1 (4 POINTS)

Each of these skills grants you the ability to cast 1st level effects from the given list and grants you +4 base Spell cards per day.

SPELLCASTING, INCANTATION OR HEALING 2 (8 POINTS)

Each of these skills grants you the ability to cast 1st and 2nd level effects from the given list and grants you +12 base Spell cards per day. You cannot have more than one magic skill at level 2 or above.

POWER (2 POINTS PER LEVEL, MAXIMUM OF FOUR LEVELS)

Each level of the Power skill grants +4 base spell cards. This increased allocation counts as your starting value for the purposes of the Rule of Double.

RITUAL MAGIC (2 POINTS PER LEVEL, MAXIMUM OF THREE LEVELS)

A level 1 Ritualist may perform Rites only. A level 2 Ritualist can perform rites and 1 ritual per event. A level 3 Ritualist can perform Rites and 1 ritual per day. Level 2 and 3 Ritualists provide 10pts of power to a ritual they lead. Any type of Ritualist can perform as many Rites as they desire, so long as all other pre-requisites are fulfilled. You cannot buy this skill unless you already have some form of casting ability. This skill does not allow you to contribute to a ritual. (See Chapter 2, Section 5, Rituals and Rites, page 45 for more information on subjects relevant to Ritualists)

CONTRIBUTE TO RITUALIST (1 POINT)

Your character can contribute one point of ritual power to the Ritual. A contributor may contribute to one ritual per day. You do not need any other magical ability to buy this skill.

INVOCATION (3 POINTS)

This skill allows for the activation of certain items. Your hand must touch the item you are attempting to invoke and you must concentrate for 10 seconds. Armour does not restrict invocation. To invoke an item, the invoker must use a suitable IC vocal, or in the case of scrolls and glyphs, must read the scroll or glyph. Chant effects generated by invocable items require the invoker to maintain the chant. If you are unsure whether you are able to invoke an item, please check with a Referee, Marshal or Game Control.

Knowledge Skills

SENSE MAGIC (1 POINT)

Your character can sense if there is any magic within an object. Your character's hand must either touch or be within 2" of the item and your character must concentrate for 10 seconds. This skill gives a general idea as to the nature and powers of the magic within the item, but does not give any information on how to activate the item. Loresheets for this skill are available from Game Control (see Chapter 3, Section 2, Loresheets, page 55).

POTION LORE (3 POINTS)

Your character can recognise most potions and alchemical dusts, including the effects the preparation will have on a person who uses it. Loresheets for this skill are available from Game Control (see Chapter 3, Section 2, Loresheets, page 55).

POISON LORE (4 POINTS)

Your character can recognise most poisons, including the effects the poison will have on a person. Your character must have this skill (or an appropriate OS) in order to be able to administer poisons or carry/use a poisoned weapon; failure to observe this will result in your character accidentally poisoning themselves and the preparation being wasted. Loresheets for this skill are available from Game Control (see Chapter 3, Section 2, Loresheets, page 55).

EVALUATION (1 POINT)

Your character can estimate the intrinsic value of an item. Loresheets for this skill are available from Game Control (see Chapter 3, Section 2, Loresheets, page 55).

RECOGNISE FORGERY (1 POINT)

With this skill, your character can examine an item and determine if it is genuine or not. Loresheets for this skill are available from Game Control (see Chapter 3, Section 2, Loresheets, page 55).

BIND WOUNDS (1 POINT)

Your character can spend 1 minute of role-played action using a phys-rep bandage on a limb location (not Torso or Head). This will remove a mortal wound on that limb raising it to 0 LHV. This skill will not work on monsters with total body hits, or creatures with anything other than a living pattern.

PHYSICIAN (2 POINTS)

Your character can spend 1 minute of role-played action using a phys-rep bandage on any location. This will remove a mortal wound on that location raising it to 0 LHV. If the target is unconscious then 1 minute's role-played action will allow the character to be brought to the Debilitated State, so long as their head and torso are not Mortally Wounded. This skill will not work on monsters with total body hits, or creatures with anything other than a living pattern. This skill also enables the character to identify other effects on the target (See Chapter 2, Section 1 - Combat, Identifying Wounds, page 16). This skill has no effect on a person suffering from Disease, Decay or on a location with a Fatal wound.

CARTOGRAPHY (1 POINT)

Your character can draw reasonably accurate maps and plans of the geographical area that you are in. This skill also allows you to navigate from maps and plans. This skill may give you a map of your faction lands (of varying quality) and may give a rough map of the IC area in which a Main LT event is taking place. Check with Game Control to see if there are maps available.

It is possible to adjust your existing Character Skills. There is a 5 OSP charge for doing so after the point of character Creation. New Customers should talk to us if they wish to redesign their first character while they get to grips with the game world.

Once your character is created, your Character can be supplemented by Occupational Skills by spending Occupational Skill Points.

WHAT ARE OCCUPATIONAL SKILLS (OS) AND OCCUPATIONAL SKILL POINTS (OSPs)?

Occupational Skills (Commonly known as OS) are used to represent the increase in experience, understanding, learning and skill available to a character over a period of time. Relevant OS can be used to specialise a character in an area, or areas, of interest. OS are usually presented in tiers indicating the rarity and complexity of the OS (each increasing alongside its relevant tier). Skills with a higher tier almost always require a prerequisite skill to be purchased before it can be purchased itself; there are some exceptions to this. There are a number of ways to purchase OS for a character, including via the Guilds and Factions, tutoring, 'self-teaching' and LT plot.

Occupational Skill Points (Commonly known as OSPs) are issued to our customers as a loyalty reward or an individual thank you. They may also be issued as a bonus or gift. The number of OSPs available represents the maximum potential learning and development opportunities for your character. Unspent OSPs are not lost if a character dies, or is retired. Unspent OSPs are retained against your player record. Spent OSPs are lost and are non-refundable.

OSPs for attending LT Main Events are credited to your player record. OSPs gained during pre-booking are available for use from the first day of the first event you have prebooked for. These may not be used during the prebooking process where they are gained. OSPs gained from paying on the gate are not available for purchasing skills until the following Event Season

Further information can be found in the publication titled "Occupational Skills: A guide to Advancement v3.1.1" (or later) which is available to download from the publications section of the website.

A NOTE ON ROLEPLAY STYLE.

The world of Erdreja has a truly diverse population. Each race, faction, guild, group and individual has their purpose, roll, and unique style of play within the world. Some individuals are dedicated to the understanding of the elements, ancestors, knowledge and of magic. Others have an ongoing task of learning a craft or skills at arms alongside their elders and peers to attain the highest skills. The drive to learn will, at times, cross the diverse populations where tact and diplomacy will serve you well.

You can, within reason, act out and play what you like, provided it is suitable to the setting and the background of the events. An individual can change the world in their own way, by leading the march to war with your allies, defending your champion and healing the wounded so they may return to the fray. You may choose to assist the guilds or your faction by completing a task or two.

Actions taken; be they heraldic, dastardly schemes, heroic deeds, cunning, courageous or expertly crafted all help to get you known within Erdreja. Your balance between action and inaction is yours to decide. Those that attain this balance within their time are respected, revered and highly valued by all those that seek to follow their example. The character you play becomes an integral part, woven into the magical fabric of everyday life on Erdreja.

Character Cards and Event Packs.

Character cards are now valid on the day they are printed. This means that the card you receive with your event pack after pre-booking, will be valid from the day it is printed and available to use during any sanctioned event thereafter.

All character cards, loresheets, special items, special powers and associated lammies are the property of the Lorien Trust and may be withdrawn at any time.

APPENDIX 2: Weapons Guidelines

Weapons Check

Weapons and armour will be checked for LRP-suitable construction according to Lorien Trust Weapons and Armour Construction Guidelines (2018), which are available to view on request from the weapon-check point, the Armourers Guild, Game Control and by download from the LT website. No real weapons (of any description) may be bought to a Lorien Trust event, though reasonable camping knives may be used in camp for camping tasks.

At no point should an un-checked weapon be used IC.

These are also available to download from the publications section of the website.

The guidelines laid out are a minimal requirement.

General Combat

The LT system supports a variety of styles of combat in situations from a one on one duel to large scale battles. You are asked to both respect the fighting style of your opponents and adjust your style to fit the situation and terrain in which you find yourself. When fighting near obstacles, with bodies on the floor or near hazardous terrain you should avoid backing yourself or your opponent into danger. Additionally, in low light conditions, from dusk onwards, it is often difficult to see your target clearly or for them to see your incoming blows, extra care should be taken in these situations. Periodically you should check the state of your weapons especially after heavy combat or woodland combat where your weapons may have picked up splinters or thorns. If in doubt, ask a Referee, Marshal or weapons checker if your weapon is still safe to use. The decision of a Referee or Marshal in these circumstances is final.

Additional combat safety guidelines may be imposed due to site restrictions or other OOC logistical reasons.

CLAWS

All claw users must pass the Lorien Trust Claw Competency test to use LRP safe claws at LT events. Claws must be used in such a way that the hand itself never touches the target. All claws must be used with an open hand, with nothing in it. Such blows must be horizontal. These rules are for safety considerations. Remember also that claws take just as long to use as any other weapon, do not use it as an excuse to fight as fast as possible. They must travel the same minimum distance as weapons. Blows from claws should still be spaced at least far enough apart for you to call slowly and clearly your damage, even if you are not required to call the damage aloud.

SMALL WEAPONS - BETWEEN 7"/17.8CM AND 18"/45.7CM

Care should be taken with small weapons, like daggers or short maces that the hand is never in danger of striking an opponent. If the weapon is held reversed along the forearm, then extra care should be taken to avoid stabbing with the tip or punching with the hand when striking a blow. As with claws, blows from small weapons should still be spaced at least far enough apart for you to call clearly your damage, even if you are not required to call the damage aloud. You may not strike your opponent in the back if you are in front of them, nor attempt to parry or strike projectiles from the air.

MEDIUM WEAPONS - BETWEEN 18"/45.7CM AND 42"/107CM

With longer weapons, you should take care to keep your blows light and be careful that your swings do not inadvertently strike others beside or behind you. Using a long weapon in each hand is different and more complicated than just one, and care should be taken to make sure you are as safe fighting with your off hand as you are with your primary hand. You may not strike your opponent in the back if you are in front of them, nor attempt to parry or strike projectiles from the air.

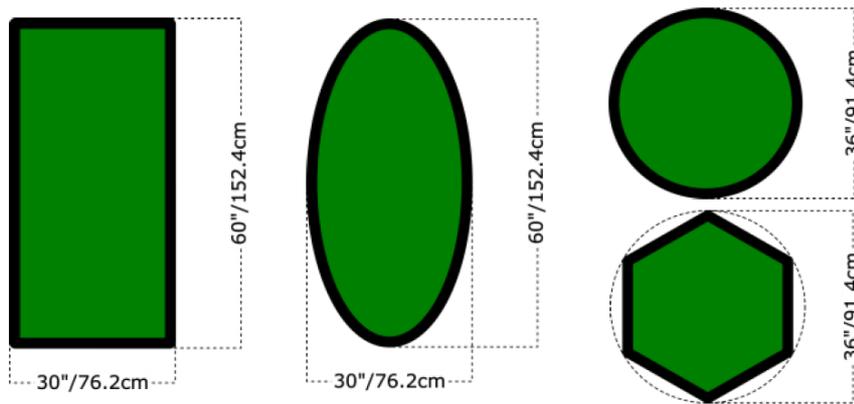

LARGE OR POLE WEAPONS – BETWEEN 43"/109CM AND 84"/213.4CM

Two-handed weapons are the most common cause of heavy blows and extra care must be taken with these weapons. Moving your hands near the base of the weapon to give extra reach results in you losing control over the striking end of the weapon. More than other weapons you should take care that those around or behind you are not inadvertently struck as you swing your weapon. You may not strike your opponent in the back if you are in front of them, nor attempt to parry or strike projectiles from the air.

SHIELDS

Shields cannot be used as a weapon in any way and punching or barging with your shield is not allowed. Kicking, punching or otherwise forcing your opponent's shield out of the way is also not allowed.

Tower Shields should be no larger than larger than 60"/152.4cm by 30"/76.2cm, and round or regularly polygonal shields should be no larger than 36"/91.4cm.

The shield shapes shown here all fit the given dimensions. Please note the Hexagonal shield has its longest dimension fitting within the 36"/91.4cm diameter circle.

BOWS AND CROSSBOWS

All bow and crossbow users must pass the Lorien Trust Bow Competency test to use LRP suitable projectile weapons at LT events. In addition to these requirements, there may be situations where projectile weapon use is inappropriate or dangerous. As noted above you should always follow the instructions of a Referee or Marshal with regard to use of these weapons.

The use of unsuitable weaponry will result in a final warning in the first instance. Continued usage will result in you being asked to leave the event.

All weaponry/projectiles/missiles must be checked by a weapons checker upon arrival to Lorien Trust events before any weaponry/projectiles/missiles may be used in play.

A dedicated Weapons Check area is set up at the event entry point (Gate) which is staffed during gate operation hours. Further Weapons Check can be gained from Event Support if you arrive outside of gate operation hours or at the Armourers guild at any time.

Arrows and Bolts are checked by the Archers Guild. Any that are passed to Lost property are relocated to the Archers Guild during Time in and Event Support during Time out.

Coreless Missiles are safety checked by the Scouts Guild. Any that are passed to Lost property are relocated to the Archers Guild during Time in and Event Support during Time out.

Any item containing a "lammie" that is IC Stolen will have been taken to Game Control for a change of ownership. The Phys Rep is securely and safely stored until collection. The phys rep will NOT have been weapons checked by Game Control unless this is done so at the moment of return to the customer.

APPENDIX 4: Definitions and Glossary

Lammie Properties

The following are standard descriptions of how the wording on some lammies works:

LAMMIE PROPERTY	EXPLANATION	EXAMPLE
Chant of Immunity Format 'Immune to X (Col)'	While continuously chanting the vocal 'By my power, I claim Immunity', the user becomes Immune to X, which may be a damage type, spell or effect. If the user stops the chant for any reason (other than OOC calls), they lose the Immunity . This does not prevent them restarting the chant if they are able (some lammies require specific actions to start the chant).	'Immune to Normal Damage (Col)'
Basic Regeneration Format 'Regenerates (X)'	The user recovers lost wounds at a faster rate, one hit per location is recovered every X time period. Any wound that could be normally recovered using the 'Cure Wound' or 'Heal Wound' effects can be regenerated. If this property is on an item, only wounds taken while wearing the item can be regenerated. If regeneration would recover a hit at exactly the same time as something else happens (e.g. Grace Period ends), the regeneration is considered to happen first. Silver damage cannot be regenerated. If any of the damage to a location(LHV) is of a type that cannot be regenerated all damage to that location(LHV) is considered to be of that type for the purposes of regeneration, thus preventing regeneration on that location until that location is restored to full health.	'Regenerates (5 min)'
Specific Regeneration Format 'Regenerates (X, Y)'	The user recovers lost wounds at a faster rate; one hit per location is recovered every X minutes. Any wound that could be normally recovered using Y effects can be regenerated. If this property is on an item, only wounds taken while wearing the item can be regenerated. If regeneration would recover a hit at exactly the same time as something else happens (e.g. Grace Period ends), the regeneration happens first. Silver damage cannot be regenerated. If any of the damage to a location(LHV) is of a type that cannot be regenerated all damage to that location(LHV) is considered to be of that type for the purposes of regeneration, thus preventing regeneration on that location until that location is restored to full health.	'Regenerates (5 min, Cure)' 'Regenerates (5 min, Healing)'
Increased Hits Format '+X LHV'	The user has more hits than normal. +LHV properties are subject to the Rule of Double (cf), so a +2 LHV item would only act as a +1 LHV item if the user only normally had 1 hit per location. Items with this property will not work if placed on a character with any location at 0 or below and if removed from a character, that character loses their 'extra' hits, rather than taking wounds.	'+2 LHV'

Increased Base Hits Format 'Has X Base LHV'	The user has more hits than normal. Base LHV properties increase the number of starting hits (normally 1) and set the cap for the Rule of Double, so a 'Has 3 Base LHV' item would enable full use of a +3 LHV item if the user only normally had 1 hit per location. Items with this property will not work if placed on a character with any location at 0 or below and if removed from a character, that character loses their 'extra' hits, rather than taking wounds.	'Has 2 Base LHV'
Damage Enhancement Format 'May Strike for X with Y'	The user may inflict X damage or effect with a weapon of the Y type if they can normally use Y type weapons. If Y is not stated, the user may strike for X with any weapon they can normally use.	'May Strike for Strikedown with Two handed Weapons' 'May Strike for Enchanted'
Natural Armour Format 'Natural Armour (X NAV)'	The user has natural armour in the form of thick hide, scales etc. Natural armour works the same as normal armour with the following exceptions; no Armour Use skills are required, natural armour cannot be repaired but may be recovered by any method the user could normally recover hits. Natural Armour will not stack with normal armour.	'Natural Armour (2 NAV)'
Loresheet Format 'X, loresheet req.'	The user is an X, which has additional special rules. These rules are on a loresheet , which must be carried in addition to the lammie with this property, or the lammie is invalid. loresheets can be collected from Game Control.	'Vampire, loresheet req.'
Cards required Format 'X, cards req.'	The user may perform the effect X only if they have Item Spell Cards to do so. These cards are available from Game Control on presentation of the lammie .	'May cast Mage Bolt 3 times a day, cards req.'
Cast effects Format 'May cast X'	The user may perform the effect X. Cast X must be cast as if it were a spell, including required IC vocals and actions. For creatures and special powers, you must still meet all requirements.	'May cast Mage Bolt' vocal - 'By the power of High Magic, I strike your Torso Mage Bolt'
Create effects Format 'May create the X effect'	The user may perform the effect X. Create X is cast as Innate, there are no IC vocals or actions required (unless stated on the lammie) and the OOC call is of the format 'Innate X'.	'May create the Mage Bolt effect' vocal - 'Innate Mage Bolt Torso'
Damage Reduction Format 'Damage Reduction (X)'	The user takes less damage from X effects, taking only one hit instead of the special damage described by the X effect. This reduced damage still counts as the same Type and still causes any non-damaging special effects (e.g. Fatal will still ignore armour and put you in your Grace Period, but will only inflict one hit of damage). If X is not stated, the user takes a maximum one hit from any special damage effect.	'Damage Reduction (Crush)'
Spell Reduction Format 'Spell Reduction (X)'	The user takes less cards to cast spell from lists they know. Each spell the user casts cost X fewer cards (to a minimum of one).	'Spell Reduction (1)'

<x> Physrep required: This phrase may appear on the back of an Item lammie, or the type of physrep may be specified in the item description and/or name on the front of the lammie. The Item lammie must be attached to an appropriate physrep. If a lammie is attached to an incorrect physrep (or no physrep) then it may not be used; if such a lammie is found to be in use then this will be treated as cheating and the lammie may be confiscated without compensation.

Attuned: This term may appear as part of the text on the Powers lammie of an item. Some items must be attuned to a character before some or all of their powers will work; in some cases the item may offer a selection of powers, where a choice of which one will be active has to be made when the item is attuned.

Attunable items will have a number of item cards per day and include the text "While Attuned..."

In order to attune to an item the name of the attuning character must be written on an item card. The character must be willing, conscious, and not already attuned to an item. No more than one attunement may be active at any one time. The act of becoming attuned requires 10 seconds of concentration. If no item cards remain then the item cannot be attuned.

If a specific power must also be chosen then the lammie will either specify this in the text, or will contain the term "Selectable Attunable (<list of possible selections>)" – in either case the chosen power must also be written on the item card. Unless the lammie explicitly states otherwise you may only make one selection per item card.

An attunement is automatically broken if the item is removed from the character, or if they drop it or put it down. The lammie may also specify other circumstances in which the attunement is broken. When an attunement is broken the item card used for that attunement is torn in half so that it cannot be reused. The powers requiring attunement cease to function until the item is attuned again.

Examples:

- 1) An item that grants the wearer the OS immune to Disease, and can be attuned three times per day, might be worded:

Has 3 item cards per day

Attunable. While attuned the wearer gains the OS Immune to Disease

If the character "Bob" wants to attune to the item then he writes "Bob" on one of the item cards and gains the OS Immune to Disease. He cannot attune to anything else while attuned to this item, and loses the OS again as soon as the attunement is broken.

- 2) An item that adds a spell to the bearer's spell list, from a choice of 3 spells, might be worded:

Has 2 item cards per day

Selectable Attunable (Cure Wound, Mend, Heal Wound). While Attuned bearer adds the chosen spell to their spell list.

If the character "Bob" wants to attune to the item in order to add Cure Wound to his spell list then he writes "Bob, Cure Wound" on one of the item cards. If he later wants to add Mend to his spell list then he must break the existing attunement, tearing the first item card and losing the spell Cure Wound, before writing "Bob, Mend" on the second item card.

Aura: Auras are a special type of lammie and, like Special Creatures and Special Powers, are specific to an individual character. No character may have more than one Aura lammie. For the purposes of the Lammie Hierarchy, Aura lammies take precedence over loresheets, and hence over all other lammies. Auras are not normally available to player characters.

Bearer, Wearer, and Wielder: These terms may appear as part of the text on the Powers lammie of an item and are used to define when the powers of an item are active.

The Bearer of an item only has to carry the item somewhere on their person in order to benefit from its powers – this can include carrying the item inside bags, pockets, pouches, or clothing.

The Wearer of an item must be wearing it appropriately for an item of that type in order to benefit from its powers.

For example:

Armour must cover at least 50% of a location and the character must have the appropriate Armour Use CS. Amulets are any ornamental piece of jewellery, and should be worn appropriately for the physrep. Sashes should be worn over the shoulder, around the waist, or hanging from a belt. Tabards should be worn on the torso. Due to the difficulties in safely attaching a lammie to a ring, these may be worn either on a finger or on suitable chain/cord/etc. around the neck.

The Wielder of an item (usually a weapon or shield) must be holding it in their hand(s) in order to benefit from its powers. They must also have the appropriate CS in order to use the item in the hand(s) in which they are holding it.

Bonded: Bonded items form part of the character's pattern and therefore cannot be removed. They are destroyed upon the death of the character to which they are bonded. These items will normally give details of how they can be renewed. If this is not the case then when they expire they should be taken to Games Control where a renewal request can be made. Note that renewal is not guaranteed.

In cases where total Power Rating of a character exceeds the limits specified in the rules, items bonded to them are treated as Special Powers when determining the effects. They are also treated as Special Powers for the purposes of the Lammie Hierarchy.

Cannot be moved: This term may appear on the front and/or back of an Item lammie. Some items are completely immobile, others can only be moved under specific circumstances. The Powers lammie for such an item will detail the conditions (if any) under which it can be moved. If the conditions are not met, or you do not have the Powers lammie, then you may not move the item.

Has n item cards per day: This phrase may appear as part of the text on the Powers lammie of an Item; or on a Special Power, Special Creature, or Aura lammie. Item cards can be collected each day from the Game Control. The phrase is usually the first line of the powers text so that, if you wish, the rest of the text can be easily concealed when collecting the cards. The rest of the text will explain effects the item cards can have – usually they must be torn to generate effects, or written on in order to attune the item (see Attunement above). If an item specifies that one or more item cards must be torn to cast a spell effect then it is the item (and not the character using it) that generates the spell effect, so (unless the lammie specifies otherwise) armour restrictions to casting do not apply and concentration is not required.

Iconic: This term may appear on the back of an Item lammie. Iconic items are unique and specific to an individual faction or guild. They continue to work, even if the total Power Rating of the person carrying them exceeds the limits specified in the rules, and are not destroyed in such circumstances; however, there may be other consequences. The powers of some Iconic items are affected by the results of the Gathering battle each year, but otherwise they usually do not change from year to year. Iconic items are renewed each year, with the new lammies being delivered to the relevant faction or guild command team (regardless of who was in possession of the old lammies).

Legendary: This term may appear on the back of an Item lammie. Legendary items are rare and unusual items which may be renewed for free. They are treated in all ways as usual lammied items, except that when they expire (or are about to expire) they should be taken to Game Control where a request for renewal may be made. Note that renewal is not guaranteed.

Must be visible: This phrase may appear on the back of an Item lammie, and applies to both the item and the lammie. It will often be found on items of clothing (such as sashes or tabards) whose purpose is to display colours and/or heraldry, but may also appear on other items. In order for its powers to function, such an item and its Item lammie must be clearly visible IC and should not be concealed underneath armour, clothing, or other costume. An exception may be made when a cloak or coat is worn over the top of costume in order to protect from the cold, rain, or other weather conditions – but you should still make an effort to make the item visible if reasonably possible, and abuse of this exception will be considered cheating.

Must remain on original physrep: This phrase may appear on the back of an Item lammie. It is fairly self-explanatory – the Item lammie should remain attached to the same physrep at all times, even if performing a change of ownership. Note that this means that you may be taking custody of someone else's physrep and you should therefore take good care of it; if it becomes damaged, or the lammie expires, then you should take it to Game Control so that appropriate action can be taken with the physrep.

Power Rating and Expiry Date: This information is printed on Item lammies as well as Aura, Special Power, and Special Creature lammies. The owner of Aura, Special Power, and Special Creature lammies will automatically know this information IC unless they choose not to.

A character examining a Special Item can learn the Power rating and/or expiry date if they wish, but you are encouraged to roleplay finding this information out IC through appropriate skills (e.g. CS: Sense Magic; OS: Diagnose Powers, Identify, relevant Sage/ Scholar or Income skills).

Regenerates (<time period>, <effect(s)> [<exclusion(s)>]): This phrase may appear as part of the text on the Powers lammie of an Item; or on a Special Power, Special Creature, or Aura lammie. The “effect(s)” and “exclusion(s)” elements are optional so may not always appear. The character affected recovers lost wounds at a faster rate – one hit per location is recovered every time period. If one or more “effect(s)” are specified then only wounds that could normally be recovered using those effects can be regenerated. If no “effect(s)” are specified then any wound that could be normally recovered using the “Cure Wound” or “Heal Wound” effects can be regenerated.

If any "exclusions" are specified in square brackets (e.g. [Flame]) then the damage types or effects specified always have their damage type converted to Artefact for the affected character, and the character cannot regenerate Artefact damage.

If this property is on an item, only wounds taken while wearing the item can be regenerated. If regeneration would recover a hit at exactly the same time as something else happens (e.g. Grace Period ends), the regeneration is considered to happen first.

Silver damage can never be regenerated. If any of the damage to a location is of a type that cannot be regenerated then all damage to that location is considered to be of that type for the purposes of regeneration, thus preventing regeneration on that location until that location is restored to full health.

e.g. “Regenerates (5 mins, Cure Wound) [Cold]” means that the affected character recovers 1 hit per location every 5 minutes, if those wounds could be recovered by the “Cure Wound” effect. They cannot regenerate Artefact damage and they take Cold as Artefact. As with all cases of regeneration, they cannot regenerate Silver damage.

Anything displayed within square brackets [] is a specific weakness to any regeneration that the character has, creating a vulnerability to the specified damage and preventing it from being regenerated.

Wearer or Wielder: See Bearer

Visibility and condition of lammies

Unless specified otherwise, lammies are effective even if not visible but they must be easily accessible should an inspection be required. Any on-duty marshal, referee, or sanctioning officer may inspect any lammies that you are using at any time (although they will normally avoid interrupting active combat etc. to do so). Note that both sides of a lammie must be available for inspection as important information may appear on the back as well as the front.

Lammies that are expired, cut, torn, defaced, or otherwise invalid may be confiscated. If your lammie becomes damaged then you are strongly encouraged to request a replacement
- for “Tick-box” lammies please seek advice from the relevant guild (Armourers for Armour, Shields, and Weapons; Archers for Bows, Crossbows and Quivers, Alchemists for Special Liquids); for other lammies please take them to Game Control in order to request a replacement from the In Game Office. Note that in all cases you will be required to surrender the old lammie in order to receive a replacement.

It should be noted that no Sage, Scholar, General Knowledge or Income Skill will grant information about a lammied item.

Definition of Terms

The following are definitions of terms used in this Handbook or elsewhere in the system, these definitions contain rules and should be read along with the section in which they are mentioned.

BESTIAL INTELLIGENCE

Beings of Bestial intelligence have limited reasoning capability and operate mostly by instinct. They are often subject to powerful instincts that they must follow; such instincts may be described by a loresheet, Marshal or Referee. Due to their low intellect, the ritual of peace does not cover them.

BONDED

This item is part of the character's pattern and cannot be removed, fumbled, shattered or otherwise Destroyed unless the character is dead. Upon character death, the item loses all powers. You cannot steal bonded items and if found not on a character then they should be handed into Game Control.

CHARM

Charms are a sub group of Mind effects and include Befriend, Beguile, Distract and Enthral. The target is not aware of being under the influence of a charm and will not recall it being used upon them until the charm ends. The use of a charm is not considered a hostile action.

CONCENTRATION

You may only perform one action that requires concentration at a time. Attempting to perform another action that requires concentration, being reduced to unconsciousness or undertaking any other action that states it breaks concentration will break concentration.

CONTROL <X>

If the target has a Control level equal to or lower than the rank <X> of Control cast, then they are Controlled by the caster and will do anything commanded of them by the caster, but this will not affect memories. No counter or Immunity can stop a Control unless it says so explicitly. The duration of the effect will vary depending on the Dismiss rank of the creature Controlled. This will not affect memory.

DAWN

This is defined as 6am.

DEBILITATED

The character cannot take any action other than walking slowly and talking. They cannot use any ability that requires Concentration, cast any spell, or wield a weapon or shield effectively (including parrying).

DESTROYED

If it is a body location then it suffers a Mortal Wound and places the character in their grace period. If it is armour then it is reduced to 0. If it is an item then it cannot be used until repaired.

DETECT <X>

Any character within the area designated (to a maximum of 10ft around the caster) by the caster that is (or has an item which is) of type <X> must say "Ping" in a loud clear voice. IC, this effect causes this noise, so everyone around the detected character is aware of the effect. If you are unsure whether you would 'ping' to a particular Detect effect, check with a Referee, Marshal or Game Control.

DISMISS <X>

Dismisses a single being with a dismiss Level of the specified power level <X> (or lower). A dismissed being is sent back to their home Plane no matter their protections, leaving no body behind and a dismissed item is Destroyed. If a creature has multiple dismiss levels, or items with a dismiss level then the Dismiss will Dismiss all effects of that level or lower. E.g. a Dismiss 30 Unliving with a dismiss 20 special item is struck by a dismiss 35. Both the dismiss levels are lower, and therefore both are dismissed.

FEAR

For 10 seconds, the target fears the caster. For 10 seconds, the target will attempt to remain at least 10ft (~3m) away from the caster. If closer than this when the effect takes place then they must move away as quickly as it is OOC safe to do so. The character must do everything within their power to flee the caster including using weapons, abilities and/or casting magic. However, they will not attack the caster by any means for the duration of the effect.

FRENZY

Upon entering frenzy, a creature becomes of Bestial Intelligence making them Immune to the Ritual of Peace. While in frenzy, the creature may continue to use unusable and Destroyed locations as if they were undamaged. Any effect that would put them in their grace period (such as a location with a Mortal Wound), or that would kill them (such as all locations with a Mortal Wound), will still do so. During frenzy, a creature is Immune to Sleep and Immobilisation effects and will treat everyone around them as an enemy that must be attacked.

GAINING AND LOSING HITS

Upon gaining extra hits via spell or item, locations on 0 or -1 will have their maximum possible hits increased, but will not gain any immediate increase. This may be combined with Body Development and with other effects, items or potions, subject to the Rule of Double. For the duration of this effect, these extra hits may be restored as normal. When this effect expires, your maximum hits per location will be reduced by reducing your current hits if necessary, but to no lower than 0.

Global

Any effect that is preceded by the word Global will affect every location of the target, regardless of the effect. Global cannot be combined with Mass unless explicitly stated by a lammie or loresheet. Global cannot be called without a lammie or loresheet that specifically allows its use.

IMMOBILISATION

Whilst under this effect the target cannot move or speak, but can still see and hear, unless they take or have taken damage that renders them unconscious. If there are real OOC (safety) issues, you should move to a nearby safer location, or more comfortable position. Immobilisation effects do not prevent you from having an item removed from your grasp. You cannot stop this, but the character taking the item from you should not touch you directly. They should tell you OOC that they are removing the item, at which point the item must be handed over out-of character.

IMMUNE

When a being is Immune to an effect, then that being is never affected by it. This requires no Concentration or knowledge of the effect. The target will be aware of the effect, unless the effect specifically states that the target is unaware of the effect.

INTELLIGENT

All characters are considered intelligent unless a ref, lammie or loresheet states otherwise.

MORTAL WOUND AND DAMAGE

All damage is normally considered lethal damage unless the blow is specified as being Subdual. Under a Ritual of Peace, only Artefact damage is lethal damage unless specified otherwise. A mortal wound is one where the location is reduced to -1, placing the character in their grace period.

MITHRIL

An extremely hard metal that is very difficult to work. Mithril is Immune to the effect Shatter. Mithril Shields or Armour are also Immune to the effect Crush inflicted with a normal weapon. Mithril Shields can be repaired by anyone with the Shield Use skill.

POSSESSION

Any character that has a possession counts as that possession Target Group as well as their normal Target Group for all effects. If the possession is removed or Dismissed then the character reverts to their normal type, note they are not killed by the Dismiss unless a lammie or loresheet states differently. For example, a human is possessed by a Daemon; they will now also count as a daemon for the purposes of daemon bane until the possession is removed or Dismissed. You can only have one possession at a time.

RESIST

When a being can resist an effect, then it requires a conscious choice and effort to resist the effect. If the being is unconscious, or is unaware of the effect, they cannot resist it.

STACKING ARMOUR

AV does not stack. If a character has AV from two different sources (e.g. a Paladin's armour effect and chainmail) then both sets of Armour will take damage at the same time if struck.

TARGET GROUP

This is a group defined by any entry on the Character card, lammie or loresheet of the Character.

UNINTELLIGENT

Unintelligent beings have no independent thought processes and may only act in the way that is set out by their creator/commander, or by their own instincts. Having no mind to affect, they are Immune to Mind Effects.

Glossary of Terms

The terms in this glossary are used throughout the Handbook or elsewhere within the system. They do not contain rules but being familiar with them will help you understand the rules

ABERRANT PATTERN

A pattern that has been altered, damaged or warped in some way. There are a number of ways for a pattern to become Aberrant, but mostly this is the result of ritual level magical effects, such as one might encounter or use in a ritual. Characters may not have Aberrant Patterns without a supporting lammie.

ALCHEMICAL

A sub-type of Dust, Poison or Potion. Poisons of this type may be removed by using any of the following effects: Purge Poison, Purge All Poisons and Total Heal.

ALIEN LIFE PATTERN

A pattern that is not from Erdreja, such creatures are rare and often cannot spend much time on Erdreja. Alien Life Patterns require a supporting lammie and so are not available to starting characters.

ARMOUR VALUE (AV)

Refers to the protection value of a piece of armour or how many points of damage on a location are considered armour.

CHARACTER

The in game persona that you play within the L.T.R.P. System.

CHARACTER SKILL (CS)

Refers to the basic skills that each character buys at creation.

COMMAND GROUP

The Staff Members that are in charge of a Faction or Guild. They often play the NPCs who run that Faction or Guild.

DUST

An alchemical preparation that may be used to enhance a character or their armour.

EFFECT

Effects are spells or special types of damage that will affect your character in different ways.

GAME CONTROL

Game Control is the point of contact at LT events for all IC and OOC logistics. This includes character creation, obtaining ritual results, character deaths, any forms required and any other general enquiries. At a Sanctioned Event there will normally be a Game Control desk but in some cases it may close after booking in has finished, the event Referees will be able to perform the function of Game Control in this case and you should refer queries to them.

HEAD OF WORLD PLOT

The member of LT Staff who has responsibility for all Plots at all LT events (including Sanctioned events). Has seniority in regards to all plot written and run at LT events. In the absence of any one appointed individual, this role will be shared amongst Lorien Trust Management.

TEAM LEADER REFEREES – DEPARTMENT HEAD.

The member of LT Staff responsible for Referees and Marshals. Has seniority over all other Referees and Marshals. In the absence of any one appointed individual, this role will be shared amongst Lorien Trust Management.

HEAD OF RULES

The member of LT Staff who has responsibility for overseeing and maintaining the Rules and Logistics of the L.T.R.P. System, including this handbook and any additions or extensions to this rules system. Has final say on all rules interpretation. In the absence of any one appointed individual, this role will be shared amongst Lorien Trust Management.

IN GAME

Anything that happens within the game world including IC actions.

IN-CHARACTER (IC)

All activity that happens as part of the game. This affects the Character, not the Player.

INCANTATION

An effect generated by the powers of Incantation. An Innate effect that generates an effect defined as an incantation. These powers are created via an Ancestor.

INNATE

The ability to generate effects without the use of a free hand or full vocals. You may not use innate abilities while immobilised.

LAMMIE

A Laminated Card authorised by the LT that contains the rules that concern a specific item or creature. A sanctioned event may produce a different style of lammie that will be for that event only.

LIVING PATTERN

The pattern of a being that is alive. Characters with Living Patterns need to breathe, eat, sleep, etc. All characters have Living Patterns unless they have a Special Creature lammie stating otherwise.

LORESHEET

A document detailing how a specific item or creature affects the game world. A loresheet may also contain a reference key for lore codes found on certain items.

MAGICAL PATTERN

A pattern created and animated by magic. Characters may not have a magic pattern without a supporting lammie.

MASTERCRAFTED

An exceptionally well-made item. These items are normally non-magical in nature, but superior to normal versions of such items. Any such item will have details of how it differs on a lammie.

MELEE WEAPONS

Any weapon intended for close combat as opposed to ranged combat e.g. swords are melee weapons; bows and throwing daggers are not. If your weapon phys-rep has a core, it is a melee weapon and may not be thrown or used as a projectile.

MONSTER AND MONSTERING

Monsters are characters that form part of a plotline; they may have powers unavailable to a player character and are directed by a plot team. At LT main events, players are encouraged to play the various monsters that are part of the plot lines at the event. You can volunteer to monster by reporting to the Monster Room, which is located in the Market place (if in doubt where it is, you can enquire at Game Control).

NON COMBAT PROP (NCP)

NCPs are non-combat props, i.e. some form of game prop such as boxes/barrels/ritual phys reps, which are not for use in combat. A NCP lammie does not make the item subject to the IC stealing rules.

NON-PLAYER CHARACTER (NPC)

A character controlled by the LT and/or a Faction or Guild plot team. Faction and Guild leaders are examples of NPC roles. They are there to provide depth and colour, and make a living, breathing game world for you to enjoy. All NPCs are answerable to the Lorien Trust and such an appointment and continued appointment is subject to LT approval.

OCCUPATIONAL SKILL (OS)

Skills gained through training with a Guild or (occasionally) an independent master. All Occupational Skills require the expenditure of Occupational Skill Points (OSPs). (See the publication 'Occupational Skills: A Guide to Advancement' for more details)

ONSET TIME

The time it takes a poison to start working from the moment it enters the targets system.

OUT OF BOUNDS

Any area that players are prohibited to enter.

OUT-OF-CHARACTER (OOC)

All activity that concerns the Player, not the Character.

PATTERN

The whole make-up of a being in Erdreja. Everything has a Pattern, but not everything has a Living Pattern.

PHYS-REP

Stands for Physical Representation. Without an appropriate Phys-rep, an item cannot be considered to exist at an event. This covers all things from Characters to Castles.

PLAYER

You, the person playing the character.

PLOT NON-PLAYER CHARACTER (PLOT NPC)

These characters form part of a plot line and are directed by a plot team. They will never have powers unavailable to players.

POISON

A liquid or salve that has detrimental effects.

POTION

A liquid or salve that has positive effects.

POWER

A power is a way of generating effects. Starting Characters can have access to three powers, that of Spellcasting, Incantation and Healing.

RITUAL CIRCLE

A construction built to harness and channel void energy into lasting magical effects.

SANCTIONED EVENT

Sanctioned events are events run using the LT game system and are set in the LT game world. The LT requires minimum standards to be met, but the event organisers are primarily responsible for the event.

SHARP

A weapon with a clearly defined blade or cutting edge.

SPELL

STAFF MEMBER

Staff members are mainly volunteers that spend their time at events, and sometimes their spare time in between events, helping run the LT system. Staff jobs include faction and guild NPCs, full time Referees, Game Control, site setup, maintenance and many others. The term Staff includes the role of Volunteer.

UNLIVING PATTERN

The corrupt pattern of a creature native to the Plane of Unlife. Characters may not have an Unliving Pattern without a supporting lammie.

ZERO HIT CREATURES

A game mechanics term used to refer to illusionary creatures. Zero Hit Creatures are normally incapable of fully interacting with the world.

WEAPON OIL

An alchemical preparation that may be used to enhance a weapon.
